Two Long Flights
St. Patrick, the Fighter
What Men Deserve
Napoleon's Death Shirt

Current Events
By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

THREE ARMY men started on a flight around the world yesterday. Good luck go with them. Good courage goes, surely. About the same time a well-dressed man, unknown, jumped off the Brooklyn Bridge in New York city—another and very different "flight." How far has he gone by this time?

ST. PATRICK was honored yesterday, on his big day. It is the courage and intelligence of the fighting Irish people that the world honors, when it honors St. Patrick. The bones of the Irish lie in graves everywhere, and unburied, in open fields of battle—in France, in the Balkans, in South America. Over every one of them you might truthfully write, "He won his fight," or, "They had to kill him to beat him."

MR. GARVEY, who wears as fine robes as any English Lord Chancellor, and intends to lead the colored people to liberty and a republic in Liberia, says to his followers: "You are entitled to anything that anybody else has."

That isn't quite true. Each man is entitled to what he can achieve. White people have fought and been killed for many thousands of years in the process of getting what they have now.

But all people, and especially the negro race, brought to this country by slave traders against their will, are entitled to justice and full opportunity. And that is all that is demanded by intelligent men and women, both black and white.

THEY UNVEILED a mosaic of St. Patrick in the British House of Parliament yesterday. That was a belated tribute to the fighting spirit that kept the Irish struggling against the power of England for seven hundred years and that has at last got for them the right to rule themselves.

AGAIN, francs were higher yesterday, and some of the gamblers were squeezed painfully in Amsterdam and here. They could have avoided that by heeding advice given day after day in this column when short selling of francs was at its maximum.

THE SHIRT that Napoleon wore when he died—of ulcers in the stomach and bitter disappointment—will be sold at auction by the descendants of Archambault, Napoleon's servant.

With it will go a piece of his coffin and the glass from which he drank last.

That trash isn't worth a cent. But who will write a book, making it clear that Napoleon ruined his health and lost the energy for lack of which he dilly dallied in Russia, and was beaten in Waterloo because he prided himself on eating too fast and sleeping only four hours. That book might be worth millions to some of America's useful builders that live as foolishly as Napoleon did.

THE House of Representatives will pass a bill giving twenty-one hundred million dollars as bonus to the soldiers that lost their jobs, and their chances at high wages during the war.

As a consequence, many, very rich, that shed glorious, patriotic tears and said nothing was too good for the dear soldiers, while the war was on and the profiteering was good, are now shedding bitter tears of rage at the thought of paying taxes.

WHAT DOES the money involved amount to? Less than twenty dollars for every man, woman and child in the United States. If the taxes on the really great incomes were really paid, instead of being evaded, in various ways, the government could pay such a bonus every year and not feel it.

IN ANY CASE, distribution of money among those that will quickly spend it, because they need it, and must spend it, will render great service to the entire nation. It will do for business and prosperity, what irrigation does for fields that lack water.

Don't forget what happened in

BROKER IS PUT UNDER ARREST

Warren N. Withington, Head of Withington & Co., Surrenders to U. S. Marshal

Warren N. Withington, head of Withington & Co., a subsidiary of G. F. Redmond & Co., Inc., was arrested today in the Federal Building, after surrendering himself to Chief Deputy U. S. Marshal Tighe.

Withington, who lives in Black Rock road, Cohasset, is charged with using the mails fraudulently. Withington & Co. suspended operations following the closing of G. F. Redmond & Co., Inc., branches throughout the country.

Withington was later released on bail of $5,000.

While the New York office of W. E. Wilson & Co., stock brokers, was closed today by temporary injunction signed by Justice Erlanger of New York city, the Boston office at No. 185 Devonshire street continued to do "business as usual."

At the Boston office officials said the concern expects no permanent harm to its local business through the New York closing as a result of application by the New York Attorney-General.

W. E. Wilson at one time had charge of the branch offices of G. F. Redmond & Co., Inc., closed brokerage house.

Attorney-General Carl Sherman of New York alleged that the New York City office of W. E. Wilson & Co. contained no records of transactions and was operated in a manner which offered no assurance of security to the customers.

MORE HUB FIRMS NAMED.

District Attorney O'Brien has started a thorough inquiry into conditions under which Boston brokerage houses are doing business. Several witnesses tell their stories to the district attorney's office today with view to preparing evidence for presentation to the Suffolk County Grand Jury.

Charges of a very definite character have been lodged against other brokerage houses than G. F. Redmond & Co., Inc. Some of these houses are alleged to have been a part of the scheme fostered by G. F. Redmond, W. E. Sheridan, Charles E. Peipenbrink and James S. Lamont, leading lights in the partial payment scheme of stock gambling.

Warren N. Withington, dummy president of Withington & Co., a part of the Redmond system, has

'LIFT' GIRLS ON THE JOB IN BLAZE

Ignoring Warning, Two Run Elevators Till the Occupants Leave Water St. Building

While thick smoke swirled up the elevator shafts, Mrs. Mary Murphy and Miss Margaret McDonough, Winthrop building elevator operators, stuck to their posts today, quitting only when they had carried all occupants to the street.

A fire, starting in a brick sample room of Dolben & Co. at No. 7 Water street, drove hundreds of occupants to the street.

When heavy smoke began rolling up through the building the superintendent warned Mrs. Murphy and Miss McDonough to go to the street.

Ignoring his warning, they continued to run their "lifts" in the smoke-filled shaft.

Workers in the jewelry store of Frank A. Andrews and in the Delano Hat Company were also driven out by smoke.

Traffic in Newspaper row was blocked during the progress of the fire, which started in waste paper and boxes in the brick sample room.

Firemen confined the blaze to this room, with a damage of $250 to $300.

Fireman Off Duty Carries L. J. Pitman to Safety and Rescues Two Others

Lawrence J. Pitman, eighty-seven, one of Wakefield's wealthiest residents and a helpless invalid, was carried to safety by a fireman when the Pitman home, one of the show places of the Greenwood district, caught fire early today.

Members of the family were awakened about 4 a. m. by smoke. A son, Richard L. Pitman, a florist, ran from the house to sound the fire alarm. Miss Lillian Robinson, a nurse, screamed for help.

Lieutenant James W. Findley of the Wakefield fire department, who lives nearby, was off duty and heard the screams. He ran to the house and carried the elder Pitman from his wheel chair to the home of a neighbor.

The lieutenant also found Mr. and

2 PATROLMEN ON TRIAL; THIRD IS DROPPED

Mounted Officer Dismissed for Leaving His Horse on the Street

Two policemen attached to the Back Bay station went on trial today before a board of captains at police headquarters, while a third policeman, attached to the same station, was dismissed from service.

The policeman dismissed was Patrolman Hastings, a mounted officer. He is alleged to have become absent-minded and left his horse standing on the street while he returned to the station on foot.

Patrolman Martin Foley, one of the two men on trial, is charged with being under the influence of liquor. He has been suspended.

Patrolman James Small—"Big" Small—who recently sued his 80-pound wife for divorce, charging her with cruel and abusive treatment, went on trial on a mysterious charge, generalized as "conduct unbecoming an officer."

Commissioner Wilson was unable to give out details in the Small case. Small has not been suspended.

DISMISS GERMAN SUITS AGAINST U. S.

Washington, March 18 (I.N.S.).—The United States Court of Claims today dismissed a suit by the Hamburg-American, North German Lloyd and other German shipping companies against this government to recover $350,000,000 on account of German vessels seized in American ports at the outbreak of the war.

Twenty-nine corporations were parties to the suit, which was thrown out by the court in sustaining the government's demurrer.

BONUS BILL PASSED IN HOUSE

Measure Adopted After Short Debate; Carries Life Insurance Provision

Washington, March 18.—The House today passed the Soldier Bonus Bill.

The result indicated there are votes in the House to override a presidential veto vote.

The vote came after 40 minutes debate under rules requiring a two-thirds majority and barring amendments.

As sent to the Senate the bill provides for the paid up 20-year endowment life insurance policies and cash payments to those veterans not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted compensation.

Nearly every member was on the floor, and the galleries were crowded as the measure—the third bonus bill in four years—approached a vote.

Chairman Green, opening the debate, said the House twice before had passed a bonus bill and "it is now time to pass a measure which will become law."

The insurance provision he said would allow cash payments in twenty years, and he estimated that 82 per cent. of the veterans would then be alive.

When Representative Yates, Republican Illinois, asked if there would be no opportunity to vote for a cash payment option, he was declared out of order. Cheers greeted the question but it went unanswered.

Adjusted service credit is figured on the same basis as in the old bill which twice passed the House, $1 a day for home service and $1.25 a day for overseas duty, the first sixty days of service not counting.

DOES NOT SUIT VETS.

Representative Treadway, Massachusetts, a Republican member of the committee, said the bill was not satisfactory to any element except those who are hopeful that the Senate will substantially alter it.

Reaffirming his opposition to a bonus for able-bodied veterans, Mr Treadway declared the taxpayers should be considered first.

The House was told by Representative Tague, Democrat, Massachusetts that former service men will not approve the measure.

Representative Andrew of Massachusetts described the measure as the "only kind of a bill that stands any chance of getting through Congress at this time."

COUPLE FINED IN BRIGHTON COURT

Viola Sentelli of No. 1086 Commonwealth avenue and Edward Cox were arraigned before Judge Connelly in the Brighton Court today. The Sentelli girl was fined $20 and Cox $10. Both appealed.

Rose Sawtelle, living at the same address given by Miss Sentelli, was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction on the charge of keeping a public nuisance. She appealed and was held in $500. The arrests were made by Vice Officer Phillips and Patrolmen Hamlet and La Rochelle.

Pope Pius in Best of Health; Reported Illness Denied

Rome, March 18 (A.P.).—The statements by a London newspaper that the Pope's health was causing considerable uneasiness and that he was reported to be suffering from arterio-sclerosis was received here with surprise.

The Pope's health is of the best and he is daily undertaking an immense amount of work. Yesterday he received numerous cardinals and prelates in private audience and later granted a public reception to several hundred pilgrims.

On Sunday the Holy Father delivered a long address to 400 members of the St. Vincent Society.

Washington, March 18. — Subpoenas were issued today for Secretaries Mellon and Weeks by the Senate committee investigating Attorney-General Daugherty.

Two Senators and Four Congressmen Invested as Leases Were Granted to Doheny

Washington, March 18.—The oil committee resumed its hearings with a double-barrelled surprise today in the form of fresh evidence of oil stock speculation by government officials and further testimony about the famous $100,000 loan to Albert B. Fall.

Brokers' records submitted by an expert accountant showed that Attorney-General Daugherty had dealt in both Sinclair and Doheny stocks since he entered the Cabinet; that C. Bascom Slemp, now secretary to President Coolidge, also bought some Doheny stock before he re-

The latter were: Representatives A. B. Rouse, Kentucky; Wells Goodykoontz, West Virginia; Thomas J. Ryan, New York, and J. H. Hines, Ohio.

The names were disclosed before the Senate oil committee today when it called to the stand Louis F. Hend, a Federal Trade Commission acmits for withdrawing of whiskey.

Alfred R. Urion, a lawyer, named in the alleged film "deal," also was subpoenaed, as was H. H. Votaw, superintendent of Federal prisons, and a relative by marriage of President Harding.

Others subpoenaed were: Assistant-Attorney Generals Crim, Anderson and Johnson; James A. Finch, pardon attorney of the Department of Justice, and Elmer Dover, former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

RESENTS "CROOK"

William A. Orr, testifying today, said he was "sore" because G. O. Holdridge, a former Department of Justice agent, Monday's witness, had classified everybody connected with the film "deal" as a crook.

He denied that he (Orr) represented the late Jess W. Smith in the "deal" and denied that Smith had any interest in the picture.

Orr testified he owned 20 per cent. of the picture contract in return for his "services."

Tex Rickard asked for his help in getting the films shown, as Rickard knew of Orr's previous attempts to get films past the New York State censors and also of his political connections.

His part was to help overcome difficulties of censorship and also in publicity.

Orr told of knowing Daugherty, Urion and others named in the film case. He had been associated with Mr. Daugherty and Jess Smith during the Harding campaign in Ohio.

He frequently visited Mr. Daugherty here, he said, and had met Howard Mannington at the "little green house on K street."

He had never met President Harding and had not attended the exhibition of the fight picture here in Washington.

MARTIN REAL

Orr said he had never met Daugherty in the "little green house on K street," repudiating a statement that he had met him there.

Orr said he had been paid "in the neighborhood of $4,500" in the film deal, but denied having talked with Jess Smith "about the films or about the money."

"You and Muma and Ike Martin were together?" Chairman Brookhart put in.

"No—that's one of the things you listened to that isn't true," Orr replied. "Martin was a real person, too."

Holdridge had testified that "Martin" was a dummy, really Muma himself.

Senator Wheeler pressed Orr vigorously for details of "exactly" what he did, and he told of seeing the New York censors and discussing "uplifters" who opposed certain films.

"You raised some money, $35,000 or $40,000 for the front porch campaign at Marion?" asked Senator Wheeler.

"I raised some."

"You turned it over to Daugherty?"

"Not one cent."

GET FILM ACROSS

His contract with Quimby, Orr said, was made after he had arranged with the New York Film Commission that the pictures would not be interfered with if shown prior to August 1, 1921, when the censorship law became effective.

"You told the commissioners that you said you could get the picture across before any real opposition came into the field?" Senator Wheeler asked.

"No," Orr objected. "I told them from knowledge of the law that the picture had been gotten ready before August 1, 1921, and couldn't be interfered with."

"You saw no newspapers—you got out no stories—you placed no newspapermen—tell us anything you did, outside of talking to Quimby, this moving picture man who had been in the business all his life."

"I talked with a lot of men."

"Give us the name of one man you talked to."

"I don't recall one now."

"Tell us one thing you did."

"I can't."

AIDED HAYWARD

"And notwithstanding that you expected to get 20 per cent. of the net receipts of the showing of this picture all over the United States."

"Yes."

"Did you get statements of the amount of money the film was earning?"

"I got weekly statements up to November."

Senator Wheeler took Orr again to his account of his New York meetings with Smith and Daugherty.

"You met Smith before the Dempsey-Carpentier fight?"

"I can't be sure."

"Who introduced you to Mannington?"

"I presume it was Mr. Daugherty. Do you want a list of everybody I happened to see at Mr. Daugherty's house?" Orr broke out.

"Yes."

"There was Will Hays, and Carmi Thompson and Colonel Hayward—that's the United States attorney at New York—I recommended him."

CLOSE TO DAUGHERTY

Senator Wheeler led the witness through accounts of breakfasts at the Daugherty-Smith apartment.

Mannington was brought more prominently into the picture by Orr, who said Mannington was "very close politically" to Daugherty, with Smith appearing to be the Attorney-General's closest personal friend.

With Mannington, Orr said he had discussed liquor matters but not permits for withdrawals.

"Mannington helped you to line up Harry on the Hayward appointment?"

Orr agreed, in part.

"What other appointments did you get or help to get?"

"I talked with the Attorney-General about New York State appointments generally."

PROBE RUM DEALS

"I have turned over money on some occasions (to Mannington) in connection with liquor affairs," Orr said. "In most cases it was to prevent going into court, to avoid litigation, appearing before the departments, etc."

Mannington had a desk at "The little green house on K street," and appeared to be a "prety live wire lawyer," Orr added.

He admitted some persons had made demands on him for return of "money they thought was coming to them" in connection with whiskey deals.

"Did you ever enter into understanding or agreement with Mannington as to withdrawal permits for whiskey," asked Senator Wheeler.

"Yes. My talks with him were about the State after withdrawal. I talked about the many things that could be done under the Volstead act—of the stubbornness of this one or that one, who might be led to change a view."

Q.—You've collected money in New York on whiskey deals? A.—No, sir.

WITNESS BALKS

Q.—Did you ever pay Mannington any money? A.—I turned over some money to him in connection with liquor affairs. I can't tell you all these details.

Orr then objected to testifying regarding whiskey deals and any affairs not relating to investigation of the Department of Justice under the scope of the Senate resolution.

"Tell us about any one of these whiskey deals," Senator Jones put in, "and why money had to be paid back?"

Orr said he "wasn't brought here for that."

"I'm here to answer anything about the inquiry—that's in the resolution," he said.

"Now, who put that idea in your head?"

"Nobody—I read the resolution."

DENIES $200,000

Citing different times he had turned over money to Mannington, Orr said once it was $2,500 and again $1,800. He insisted he had not gotten one cent in these transactions.

"In the aggregate you turned over something like $200,000?" asked Senator Wheeler.

That was denied by Orr, who said he could only recall an aggregate of $6,000.

Senator Wheeler asked if Mannington had not returned over $40,000 to clients, Orr said:

"Not to my recollection."

"Don't you know that Jess Smith refused to turn back some of the money given to him?" asked Senator Wheeler.

Orr disclaimed knowledge.

Felder, Gaston B. Means' counsel, told him Orr said that Mannington had returned $10,000 or $12,000 to clients.

countant. Bond has examined the books of a number of brokerage houses.

ASKED BY FALL

Price McKinney of Cleveland, then testified that former Secretary Fall had sought late last year, when the committee was inquiring into Fall's finances, to have McKinney say he had loaned $100,000 to the former secretary.

That was before Fall made the same proposal to E. B. McLean.

McKinney said he did not reply to Fall's letter making the request, and C. C. Chase, Fall's son-in-law, visited him at Cleveland.

"What did Chase say?" asked Senator Walsh.

"I did most of the talking," McKinney said. "I said I had not made the loan, and I could not say that I had done so."

McKinney said he had known Fall many years and had had some business dealings with him. He added he was not interested in oil lands.

The witness was on the stand less than fifteen minutes. He was followed by Henry Woodhouse of New York, who was questioned about his published charges that the Doheny interests had agreed to sell much of the California Naval Oil Reserve output to British interests.

STOCK DEALS

Woodhouse said he had owned one-sixth of the Chester oil concession in Turkey.

Launching into a long recital, the witness said Doheny had organized in 1919 in company with British oil and steamship interests the British Mexican Petroleum Company, which under a contract was to have first call on the Doheny oil output both in the United States and Mexico.

Attorney-General Daugherty bought 100 shares of Pan-American (the Doheny Company that leased the California Reserve), and sold at a profit of $543.50, the accountant said.

Daugherty has disclosed previously that he had some dealings in Sinclair stock, both before and after he entered the Cabinet.

The Attorney-General's account with W. B. Hibbs & Co. of Washington was opened in November, 1921, Bond said, in his own name, and subsequently changed to the name of W. W. Spaid, a member of Hibbs & Co.

On October 9, 1922, the Attorney-General sold 500 shares of Sinclair Consolidated and on October 27 he purchased an equal amount of the same stock, Bond said.

Senator Curtis, who is the assistant Republican leader of the Senate, was said by the witness to have bought 100 shares of Sinclair Consolidated on February 23, 1922. The records indicated it was a "straight purchase."

Senator Elkins bought 8,700 shares of Sinclair Consolidated on November 16, 1923, at a cost of $302,355. He sold 7,700 shares on May 24, 1922, at $272,924 and took "straight delivery" on the remaining 1,000 shares.

Bond told the committee Slemp bought 100 shares of Mexican Petroleum for "P. W. Slemp" and sold them at a net profit of $581. He then bought on June 23, 1922, 1,000 shares of Mexican Seaboard, another Sinclair company, and sold at a profit of $1,484.38.

MADE $8,645

Representative Ryan, the witness said, dealt in 5,400 shares of Sinclair stock and 700 shares of Doheny stock in 1922 and 1923, and realized a net profit of $8,645.

Representative Rouse bought 100 shares of Pan-American Petroleum at $8,715 and there was no record of any sale.

Representative Goodykoontz was shown to have made a net profit of $256 in Sinclair Consolidated and Mexican Petroleum.

Representative Himes bought and sold to the extent of 3,500 shares of oil stock, but Bond's report did not show whether there was a loss or gain.

The Sinclair Teapot Dome lease was signed April 7, 1922, and the Doheny California lease December 11, 1922.

Woodhouse was on the stand half an hour, and at the conclusion of his statement the committee adjourned until tomorrow.

Senator Curtis later issued a statement explaining that he had purchased the Sinclair stock for his daughter, Mrs. Permelia Curtis George, and that it had been delivered to her in July, 1922, under an agreement by which she deposits the dividends in bank to the account of her children.

Officials Named As Purchasers of Oil Stock

Washington, March 18.—The names of public officials who dealt in Doheny and Sinclair stocks, reported to the oil committee today were:

Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty.

C. Bascom Slemp, Coolidge's secretary.

Senator Davis Elkins, of West Virginia.

Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas.

Representative Arthur B. Rouse, Kentucky.

Representative T. J. Ryan, New York.

Representative Wells Goodykuntz, West Virginia.

Representative Joseph H. Himes, Ohio.

The last three named retired from Congress last session. All the above are Republicans.

Before the firemen arrived Findley opened doors and windows releasing the smoke and the MacCutcheons escaped to the street. The nurse got out unaided.

ROUND-WORL FLIERS START SECOND LEG

Martin, Smith and Wad Leave Sacramento in a Dash for Eugene, Ore.

Sacramento, Cal., March 18.—Starting the second leg of their 23,000-mile flight around the world three airplanes of the United Stat army service took off today from Mather Field, near here, for Eugene, Ore., at 9.48 a. m. (12:48 Eastern standard time).

They expect to reach Eugene about 3 p. m.

Major Frederick L. Martin, flight commander, hopped off first, followed by Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith and Leigh Wade. Weather conditions were ideal.

The fliers will remain in Eugene over night and then will jump to Sand Point, Seattle, omitting a previously scheduled stop at Vancouver Barracks, Wash.

Their 400-mile flight here from Clover Field was successful in every degree.

"We have prepared a schedule of five and one half months for the trip but I am telling the people that we will be back on American soil in four and one-half months," Major Martin told the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce at a dinner for the aviators.

"The purpose of the flight is, first, to illustrate to other nations that it can be done; second, to demonstrate the possibilities of aerial navigation, and third, to gather climatic statistics, so that in the future commercial aerial navigation, transportation and lines of communication can be established.

"I know the route we are taking now will, of course, not be the most practicable airline for commercial aircraft of the future.

"It is a step in the advancement of such transportation of the future. And in many years to come you and I, all of us, will think nothing of going abroad by airplane."

Clover Field, Santa Monica, Cal., March 18.—Lieutenant Erik H. Nelson, engineering officer of the Army round-the-world flight, is expected to arrive here today from Rockwell Field, San Diego, en route to join his fellow-pilots of the globe tour in world cruiser No. 4, which was unable to take off with the other three biplanes of the squadron because of delayed delivery.

BEAUVAIS TO SUE BANKER STILLMAN; BARES $200,000 BRIBE OFFER

GUIDE IS GLAD FIFI WON CASE

Canadian Declares the Banker Must Pay for Dragging His Name Into Court

Montreal, March 18 (Copyright, 1924, by I.N.S.).—Fred Beauvais, Canadian-Indian guide named as corespondent by James A. Stillman, millionaire banker, in his unsuccessful efforts to divorce his wife, Mrs. Anne (Fifi) Stillman, in an exclusive interview today said he contemplated a damage suit against the banker.

Beauvais at present is pressing a suit against Mrs. Stillman, seeking to recover $15,000 he alleges he spent in her behalf during the trial of her suit. Beauvais says he personally found many of Mrs. Stillman's witnesses who aided her to victory over her husband.

James A. Stillman Fred Beauvais

Beauvais, commenting on the recent decision of the New York Supreme Court that Mrs. Stillman's youngest son, Guy, was legitimate, and not the child of Beauvais, as Stillman charged, said:

"The finding of the Appellate Court clears my name in every way. It proves to the public that charges made against me as co-respondent were unfounded. Stillman did not have a shred of tangible evidence and the decision of the court is no more than I expected.

"My next move is to establish myself before the public, recover my expenses, wash my hands of the whole affair and attend to my business."

Beauvais said he had been offered $200,000 to turn against Mrs. Stillman, but refused.

"I am hurt to think that Mrs. Stillman is forcing me to collect what I spent through the courts," he asserted. "I defended her and trusted her. Her word was enough for me. But she has forced me into the courts to collect what she owes me in money actually expended."

Beauvais said he would retain New York attorneys for his contemplated suit against Stillman.

"I nurse no hard feelings, but I want to get out of the affair with an even break," he decared.

FELLED AND ROBBED BY HIGHWAYMAN

MISS GERTRUDE ITOE

Brighton girl who was knocked down and robbed by a snatch thief while walking near her home. Her injuries are not serious.

Washington — The arbitration treaty negotiated between the United States and sixteen other American nations at the fifth Pan-American conference in Santiago last May was favorably reported today by the Senate foreign relations committee.

BRIGHTON GIRL IS VICTIM OF HOLDUP MAN

While walking along Holden street, Brighton, Miss Gertrude Itoe, twenty, of No. 129 Nonantum street, Brighton, was knocked down by a man who, picking up the purse which she had dropped in her fright, made his escape.

No trace of the thief has been found. Miss Itoe received no serious injury. Police are seeking the robber.

LEVENSON AND WALSH CLASH DURING TRIAL

Court Takes Hand When Cross-Examiner Queries Witness on Immunity

The Los Angeles bond theft case was introduced today in Middlesex Superior Court in the trial of William J. Corcoran and others, charged with an attempt to conspire to extort money from Kenneth Merrill, Newton textile manufacturer.

The bond theft was injected during the cross-examination of Harry E. Levenson, one of the chief witnesses for the State, by Joseph P. Walsh, attorney for Corcoran.

Walsh asked whether Levenson had got District Attorney Arthur K. Reading to go before the Federal court to prevent his, Levenson's, indictment in connection with the Los Angeles bond thefts.

ASSISTED PROSECUTOR.

"No, I told Mr. Reading you were mixed up in the case," retorted Levenson. "He went down to protect me from the rotten framing of you and your gang."

Levenson stated that he had assisted the Middlesex district attorney's office in the preparation of the present case, and had also aided the Suffolk County authorities.

"I've given all the help that is in me," said Mr. Levenson.

Levenson denied he had told friends he was the proper man to handle the prosecution of the so-called blackmail cases.

"You don't care whether you answer yes or no to a question do you?" interrogated Mr. Walsh.

"How dare you say that," shouted Levenson, as he sprang to his feet from the chair which had been provided for him on account of his weakened condition.

Mr. Walsh then asked Levenson whether a two-year sentence imposed on him in the Middlesex Court last April, was not to be set aside, as a part of Levenson's immunity for his testimony and aid in the cases.

"Didn't the district attorney's office tell you an arrangement had been made with Mr. Justice Hammond, whereby a new trial would be granted you and the case then nolle prossed?" questioned Mr. Walsh.

Assistant District Attorney Robert Bushnell jumped angrily to his feet and demanded if Walsh were making accusations.

Judge Whiting, also leaned from the bench and asked Mr. Walsh if he were making accusations against the court.

"I didn't say the court made the arrangement," replied Mr. Walsh.

"Vote Against Me," Is Plea of This Candidate

Dudley March 18.—J. Harold Easterbrook, Democratic nominee for cemetery commissioner, is conducting an unusual campaign. He is campaigning for his own defeat, insisting that he doesn't want the office.

Easterbrook was selected by the Democrats without his knowledge. The Republicans planned to nominate him also, but he flagged that nomination. Miss Cora Duger was nominated by the Republicans.

WOMAN DIES IN DINGY ROOMS; HAD $100,000

Late William Coffin of Nantucket Thought to Have Been Her Father

New York, March 18 (I.N.S.)—Dying alone and friendless in a dingy room in a tenement in Brooklyn, where $100,000 worth of dust-covered bonds and mortgages were found in a bureau drawer, the body of Miss Henryetta Coffin, sixty-five-year-old spinster, lay unclaimed today in the morgue. Death came apparently from natural causes. Search among her effects yielded seven bankbooks.

After considerable investigation police announced the woman was the daughter of the late William Coffin of Nantucket.

All of her property has been turned over to the public administrator until identification of the next of kin is established.

OLD-TIME CIRCUS RIDER IS DYING

New York, March 18.—William Showles, sixty, at one time a famous bareback rider with the old Barnum show, is near death in a hospital. Showles left the Barnum circus in Hungary several years ago, gathered some troopers together and organized a show of his own. The company met with adversity, and since then the former star of the sawdust ring has been working as an elevator man.

40 Billion Cups of Coffee, 21 Billion of Tea a Year

Washington, March 18.—Forty billion cups of coffee, requiring 1,000,000,000 pounds of coffee bean, and 10,000,000,000 ounces of cream—the equivalent of 12,500,000,000 pounds of milk or one-eighth of the total production of the country—are consumed annually in the United States, it is estimated by the Department of Agriculture.

Approximately 21,000,000,000 cups of tea, requiring 85,000,000 pounds of tea leaves and 10,500,000,000 ounces of cream, make up the tea consumption.

Coffee and the drinkers also consume in their beverages 860,000,000 pounds of sugar a year.

AUTOIST FINED $100 IN FALSE OATH CASE

When Edward P. Wells of No. 47 Hazlett street, Roxbury, appeared before Judge Logan in South Boston Court on the charge of swearing falsely in connection with an automobile registration, he was fined $100.

Inspector Jeremiah C. Leary from the registrar's department, told the court Wells had been implicated in at least eight violations of the motor law and that he had escaped penalties as the result of suspended sentences.

When Judge Logan imposed the fine Wells said:

"I'll get it in three hours, Judge."

He beat his own time, returning in two hours and paying.

IN 6-STORY FALL AND LIVES; HELD AS BURGLAR

Youth Claims Robbers Shoved Him, but Loot in Rooms Causes Arrest

New York, March 18.—Raymond Tapia, twenty-three years old, fell six stories from the roof of a West Sixty-sixth street department building today, and lived, only to be placed under arrest as an "aerial burglar."

Tapia alighted on a pile of coal in a court yard. He suffered internal injuries and a fractured leg.

Asked how he came to be on the roof, Tapia told the police two men had lured him there and then attempted to rob him. He was knocked off, he said, when he put up a fight.

Detectives searched his rooms, however, and claim to have recovered several thousands of dollars' worth of furs and gems stolen in recent robberies.

The detectives said they believed Tapia entered apartments by swinging on a rope from the roof, lowering himself to opened windows.

Hasty Pudding Club Show to Be Given In Hub, Apr. 24, Savs Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN

IF Harry Pratt made an altogether irresistible "Marie," the chic French maid of "Take a Brace," there are those who say that he will be even more devastating as "Janet Cruthers."

"Janet" is the dashing heroine of "Who's Who," this year's Hasty Pudding show, which will be given not only in Boston and Cambridge, but in Hot Springs, New York and Washington. As usual, the Pudding boys will be right royally entertained at all their "one night" stands.

Another '24 man, "Kit" Carson, will don beguiling curls for the role of "Barbara Loring" and John D. Lodge, who has taken part in so many theatricals, will be "Robert Stanley."

Others in the cast of "Who's Who" include Merrill L. Stout, Clark Hodder and Stanley G. French.

The first performance will be given on April 9, at the Clubhouse in Cambridge, followed by the Southern tour, winding up on April 24 with a public appearance in Boston.

NOT a few members of the fashionable world are interested in the talk to be held tomorrow afternoon at the Copley-Plaza, when Thomas Whittemore will discuss the youth of Russia. He will be introduced by Charles R. Crane, former American Ambassador to China.

Among the prominent matrons sponsoring the meeting are Mesdames J. Warren Merrill, Ralph Adams Cram, Horatio Lamb and Roger Wolcott, as well as the Miss Louisa and Katherin P. Loring, Evelyn Sears and Mary Wheelwright.

NO matter what the occasion, Miss Betty Thorndike is always smartly-clad, yet her clothes are never at all bizarre.

Yesterday, when I saw her shopping downtown, she woret a dark green coat, with wide bandings of dark fur, a tiny black hat completing the costume. Miss Thorndike, who is the daughter of the Alden A. Thorndikes, of Commonwealth avenue and a bud of last year, will have an important part in "Wake Up," the coming Vincent Club show.

MISS EVELYN WALKER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walker of Brookline, has selected May's last Saturday for the date of her wedding to John McDuffie 2nd.

Evelyn Walker

Miss Walker, a tall slender girl of fragile blonde type, was presented with the debs of last year, and one of the first of that coterie to become engaged.

To judge by the number of belles who have already decided upon their wedding day, this year will be much more of a "marrying" year than last.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bacon, who are in Washington as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Butler Wright, were given a dinner the other evening by Colonel and Mrs. Morris E. Locke.

Loring Whitman of Commonwealth avenue is now at the Royal Palm, in Miami.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Warren of Boston will remain in Palm Beach at the Everglades Club until the last of March.

Among Bostonians now traveling abroad is Mrs. Guy Murchie, who sailed about two weeks ago with her daughter, Miss Agnes Murchie.

Prominent among the mid-Lenten nuptial events is the marriage of Miss Lois Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Kent Arnold, to Stanwood Knowles Bolton, which will be solemnized next Saturday in St. Paul's Cathedral.

England when a pension was voted to old people.

At first, British capitalists said they would leave, taking their money to the Continent. But the distribution of money stimulated employment, and prosperity, to an extent that England had not seen before. The capitalist changed his mind and stayed at home.

The distribution of the soldiers' bonus will have the same effect here.

ITALY, led by the efficient Mussolini, triumphantly takes over Fiume, and D'Annunzio, the fighting, flying poet, is made a Prince in recognition of his work to reclaim Fiume.

That's one good thing accomplished. The Italian nation, which transplanted civilization to the east side of the Adriatic more than two thousand years ago, has now got what belonged to it.

DR. HELMER KEY, learned Swede, urges immigration to South America, to start communities that will purchase European goods. One trouble in Europe is little understood in this country. Formerly great manufacturing nations, England, Germany, Belgium, etc., sent their products to backward European nations that had not developed manufacture.

But in war the great nations were so busy cutting each other's throats, manufacturing killing machinery, etc., they had no time to supply their customers.

Therefore the customers learned to do manufacturing for themselves, and now the warrior nations have lost their markets, and must look for them elsewhere.

War does not pay.

BRIBE OFFERED BY KNUTSON, SAYS OFFICER

Congressman, Witness Says, Told Him to Fill Out Blank Check

Washington, March 18.—Representative Harold Knutson of Minnesota and Leroy M. Hull, a twenty-nine-year-old government employe, had a preliminary hearing today at Arlington, Va., on serious charges preferred against them by officers who arrested them March 9 on a Virginia road just outside Washington.

Knutson appeared in the courtroom accompanied by counsel and by Representatives Newton and Larson of Minnesota. He had entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned a week ago, and in a public statement had declared that he was the victim of a "terrible mistake" and wholly innocent of the charge against him.

John Wise, one of the officers who made the arrests, was called as the first witness. He testified he and another Arlington county traffic policeman named Burke, came upon Knutson and Hull in an automobile parked about 150 feet from the road and that Knutson offered them his automobile as collateral until he could go to Washington and obtain $100. Wise said he told him "there was nothing doing" and that he would have to submit to arrest.

Arriving at the jail, Wise testified, Knutson made further offers to "settle out of court," even tendering a blank check and telling the officer "to name the amount."

ECONOMY TO RULE NAVY OIL RESERVES

Washington, March 18.—A program for strict economy for future administration of naval oil lands, including the celebrated Teapot Dome and California reserves if they are returned by the courts to the jurisdiction of the Navy Department, was forecast today in an order issued by Acting Secretary Roosevelt.

Five officers, who have had previous experience with naval oil problems and are known as conservationists, were relieved by the order from their present duties and assigned to new stations in the Navy Department itself or in naval districts embracing oil land reserves.

Club Honors Dog Who Aided in Catching Burglars

Members of the Cochato Club showed their appreciation of the action of "Connecticut Yankee Junior," a skye terrier, in aiding in the capture of two men who were about to rob the clubhouse by presenting him with a handsome silver embossed shoulder harness.

The burglars were discovered in the club by the dog when he accompanied his master, Lowell A. Norris, as he entered for the purpose of telephoning. As they fled the dog followed and was given credit by the police for their arrest.

GIRL MAY GIVE CLEW TO GANG OF BANDITS

Holdup at Springfield Near Restaurant Where Gladys Smith Worked

Springfield, March 18.—When the police arrested eighteen-year-old Gladys Smith, a Worcester girl, employed in a Springfield restaurant, they found letters on her indicating that she might have knowledge of a gang of bandits.

While the police were working on the case, a gunman held up and robbed Alexander Gardner, a business man of No. 50 Willow street, securing $1,100 in cash and a diamond stickpin valued at $800.

The restaurant where the girl was employed is located but a few steps from Gardner's place of business.

It was generally known in the neighborhood that Gardner made a practice of carrying big sums of money with him and his friends frequently protested.

When a young man appeared at his place of business, late in the evening, and was unable to secure the type of show-cases he described, Gardner agreed to take him to his warehouse nearby. When the second floor of the warehouse was reached, Gardner found himself looking into the barrel of an automatic and a few moments later he was minus his bank roll and diamond pin. The bandit made good his escape.

The hold-up has convinced the Springfield police that there is an organized plot on the part of Worcester gunmen to prey on Springfield businessmen and an effort is being made to determine if the restaurant girl can give any evidence.

To Be May Bride

MISS ROSAMOND PORTER JOHNSON.

Society circles received a surprise today on learning that although Rosamond Porter Johnson and Howland Seabury filed marriage intentions, the wedding will not take place until the first of May. The reason, according to the young fiance, was merely one of expediency, as they wanted to escape the "May rush."

Miss Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott Howe Johnson of No. 7 Commonwealth avenue. Mr. Seabury is a graduate of the 1922 class of Harvard and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seabury of Beverly Farms.

The young people met at a society function some time ago, and it was a case of love at first sight. As Mr. Seabury had just started his career in the banking business, they decided to wait a reasonable time before announcing the date of their marriage. Both Miss Johnson and Mr. Seabury are 23 years old.

CONFESSES TO KILLING 2 TO HIDE MURDER

John Vetoski, Arrested at Perry, N. Y., Shoots Man and Wife

Buffalo, N. Y., March 18 (I.N.S.)—John Vetoski, arrested at Perry, has confessed to the triple murder of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whalley and Mabel Morse at Linden on March 11, according to Sheriff Ware, who arrived at Batavia with the prisoner early today.

Vetoski, arrested by Sheriff Simmons of Wyoming county while walking on the highway near Perry, related the following story to Sheriff Ware:

SHORT OF MONEY.

On the day of the murder he was walking along the Erie Railroad tracks that run near the Whalley home. He was short of money and eying the Whalley house on the hill decided to rob it. He gained entrance through the rear cellarway and had found pocketbooks containing money in the living room when Whalley entered.

Vetoski said that he took a shot at Whalley and missed. He chased Whalley about the house in an effort to get another shot at him and cornered him in the pantry, where the final shot was fired.

Mrs. Whalley came in the house by the front door a few minutes later and Vetoski killed her with the first bullet.

TO CONCEAL CRIME.

Having killed the two persons, Vetoski decided to burn the cottage in an effort to conceal his crime. He had dragged the body of Mrs. Whalley into the living room and was pulling the body of her husband to the same place when Mrs. Morse entered the room.

Vetoski said that he decided he would have to kill Mrs. Morse, fearing she would identify him with the crimes he had committed.

There were no more cartridges in his revolver and he felled her with a blow with his fist. He found the pickaxe handle after Mrs. Morse was down and he crushed her skull with the handle before she had recovered consciousness from the first blow. Vetoski then dragged the body of Mrs. Morse near the bodies of Whalley and his wife. He covered them with rugs and sprinkled these with oil.

Jap Villages Burn

Tokio, March 18.—Six villages have been wiped out by a forest fire which has raged since Saturday at the foot of Mount Horaiji, near Nagoya, 170 miles from Tokio. Twenty persons are missing and believed to have perished.

Troops have been called out to fight the blaze.

LODGE ACCUSED OF 'STIFLING FREE SPEECH'

West Virginia Senator Attacks Representative of "Intolerant Colony"

Washington, March 18.—Debate on the oil disclosures, the Coolidge-McLean telegrams and the possible political consequences of it all broke out afresh today in the Senate.

Senator Neely, Democrat, West Virginia, bitterly assailed Senator Henry Cabot Lodge for his recent address in defence of the President and declared Mr. Coolidge "must abide by the results of his unhappy choice" of Edward B. McLean as one of his advisers.

Reviewing hostile editorial comment upon the oil inquiry, Senator Neely said it served to show "the intimate connection between big business and corrupt policies." Attacks by newspapers upon the Senate, he said, clearly indicated that their interests were being hurt by the continuing exposures. Lodge's assertion that the President should not be subjected to attacks like those recently made upon him was characterized by the West Virginia senator as an attempt to "stifle free speech in the United States Senate." The Republican leader, he said, was speaking "for that intolerant colony that expelled Roger Williams because of religious belief."

WALES MAY BE DISFIGURED FOR LIFE

Nose of Prince Broken and Teeth Knocked Out in His Last Fall From Horse

London, March 18 (I.N.S.)—The facial features of the Prince of Wales may be permanently affected by kicks he received from his horse while riding in an army steeplechase at Aldershot last Saturday, it was reported today.

The Prince is making rapid progress toward recovery, but has to remain in a darkened room.

His accident Saturday was the twelfth fall Wales has had while riding horseback.

According to the Daily Graphic, the Prince's nose was broken and two of his front teeth were kicked out by the horse's hoof.

On Job 42 Years, Never Missed a Night at Work

Spry at 78 years of age, with a record of having never missed a night at work for the past forty-two years, is the distinction claimed by Henry M. Lewis of No. 15 Garland street, Lynn, who has worked as a private watchman for the past fifty-five years.

He celebrated his birthday in the usual manner by working through the night and receiving a shower of congratulations from his legion of relatives, friends and neighbors.

Why Every Person Should Make This INDICAN Test

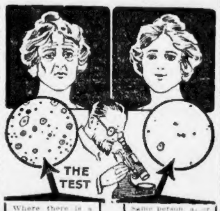
THREE out of every four people in this country, if put under a chemical analysis, would show the presence of INDICAN, many doctors now believe.

INDICAN shows that your blood is clogged with toxic poisons, due to constipation. Any day, these may result in a severe breakdown and sickness and often lead to rheumatism and heart and lung affections. This poison is deadly!

While most laxatives give only temporary relief from constipation, it has recently been found that one of our oldest and best-known home remedies, not only "physics" the stomach, liver and intestines quickly, but also drives the INDICAN away.

MAKE THIS TEST: Have an analysis made of your specimen, and if the chemist reports the presence of INDICAN—or if you can "feel" how poisoned you are because of headaches, sallow complexion, no appetite and bad stomach—immediately start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills. Next, have another test made and see how the INDICAN is disappearing. With freedom from constipation poisons, you will enjoy a clear, bright complexion free from pimples and blackheads, your appetite improves, weight approaches normal, you feel fit, in most cases.

Important: Carter's Little Liver Pills used for 67 years by millions of people all over the world is a purely vegetable preparation and contains no drugs of any nature. It therefore acts in a natural way and is non-habit forming. Money refunded if results are not satisfactory.



Where there is a pimply skin, bad stomach, coated tongue, foul breath, we usually find INDICAN just as shown in the picture above.

Same person after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills for only a few days — note the clean, normal specimen — FREE FROM ANY TRACE OF INDICAN.

100,000 Persons Homeward Bound Delayed by Short Circuit Animal Caused

About 100,000 men, women and children were delayed on their homeward journey, when a rat, believed to have been impelled by its migratory instinct and natural curiosity, missed its step and walked on to a high tension electric feed wire at the South Boston power house of the Boston Elevated Railway Company.

The end of the rat was sudden and painless.

Not so sudden, however, was the end of the traffic jam which resulted from the short circuit which his prowling proclivities had caused.

For 12 minutes the entire transportation system of the Elevated company was paralyzed. Surface cars, subway and elevated trains stopped as if by some magic.

Passengers, locked within the trains and cars, fretted, fumed or raged, according to their various and individual temperaments while would-be passengers, waiting on street corners and in subway and tunnel stations, wondered what it was all about.

The damage was repaired in 12 minutes, but it was considerably longer than that before the congestion was relieved and traffic was restored to normal.

REJECT REVERE POLICE COMMISSION BILL

The legislative committee on cities, in executive session today, rejected the petition of J. Frank Chase, secretary of the Watch and Ward Society, which provided for the establishment of a police commission in Revere. Representative John Thomas of Gloucester dissented.

The committee took no action on the petition of Margaret Taylor of Boston, providing for increases in salary for members of the Boston police department.

LEAVES WORD TO AVIATORS TO 'STICK TO IT'

Captain Hyde-Pearson, Killed in Air While Carrying Mail, Urges His Companions On

Cleveland, March 18.—Two letters urging his aviator friends "all over the world," to "stick to it," were made public today by Mrs. Kate Hyde-Pearson of Santa Monica, Cal., mother of Captain Leonard Brooke Hyde-Pearson, World War flyer and air mail pilot, killed ten days ago in the mountains of Pennsylvania while carrying mail from New York to Cleveland.

The letters, addressed "to my beloved brother pilots and pals," were marked: "to be opened only after my death."

"I go west, but with a cheerful heart," one of the letters read. "I hope what small sacrifice I have made may be of use to the cause.

"When we fly we are fools, they say. When we are dead we weren't half-bad fellows. But everyone in this wonderful aviation service is doing the world far more good than the public can appreciate.

"We risk our necks; we give our lives; we perfect a service for the benefit of the world at large. They, mind you, are the ones who call us fools.

"But stick to it, boys. I'm still very much with you all. See you all again."

How Much Longer Must Postal Workers Wait for Living Wage?

Letter carriers are asking for more pay, a living wage. They ask Congress to pass the Kelly-Edge bill which would increase their salaries from $1800 to $2400 a year. At the present time letter carriers are getting less than common laborers. The sum of $4.92 a day is not enough for these hard-working faithful men. Here is another case that supports this contention.

C. F. Worth

Carrier Charles F. Worth has been in the postal service for 19 years. He is the father of four small children whose ages range from eight to fourteen years. He supports his wife and children, and pays $50 a month rent, all out of $1800 a year.

ASKS PROBE OF RED RIVER OIL LEASES

Washington, March 18.—Another oil inquiry was urged today by Senator Fletcher of Florida, who wants the oil committee to recommend repeal of the Watson act of March 4, 1923, conferring certain oil rights in the bed of the Red River, which is the boundary between Texas and Oklahoma.

Berlin, March 18.—Foreign Office officials today intimated they would be glad if Bergdoll got out of Germany. They so expressed themselves when informed that Bergdoll wanted to leave the country at once. It was said the Berlin government had asked the Badenese officials to put no hindrances in the way of his immediate departure.

Eberbach, Baden, March 18 (A.P.).—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the American draft evader, authorized his secretary to state today that Bergdoll had not agreed to return to the United States, as had been reported, but that he was willing to consider proposals giving assurances as to the exact punishment he would have to undergo in such a case.

The announcement that Bergdoll was ready to return to America was made by Norman Hapgood, editor of Hearst's International Magazine.

Editor Hapgood declared that Bergdoll had accepted an offer made to him by Leighton Blood, a magazine writer, who acted in behalf of the American Legion and State Department.

Mr. Hapgood later asserted that if Bergdoll was now saying that he had not promised the Legion he would return, it was only because he had changed his mind and become alarmed.

Bergdoll's promise to Blood was confirmed on Sunday, Mr. Hapgood said, adding: "Certain influences have been trying to alarm Bergdoll and have apparently succeeded. After seven years of adventurous dodging of authorities he is naturally full of suspicion. It seems probable now that he will decide within the next few days definitely to carry out the agreement."

Bergdoll's mother, Mr. Hapgood said, "has indicated to him that an opportunity like the present, in which the American Legion takes a sympathetic part in his return and in which the State Department cooperates with the Legion, is not likely to occur again."

$100.000 ASKED IN MILLS SLANDER SUIT

New York, March 18.—Slander suits for $100,000 were filed today against Representative Ogden L. Mills by Schuyler M. Meyer, former State Senator, and William M. Chadbourne, president of the Lenox Hill Republican Club, for his accusation that they were secretly offering to aid Senator Hiram Johnson obtain the Republican presidential nomination while professing to support President Coolidge.

The charges and the slander suits grew out of the campaign for Republican leadership of the fifteenth assembly district, which Mr. Mills, the organization candidate, and Mr. Meyer, the insurgent candidate, are contesting.

WALSH VOTE ELECTS NEGRO U. S. OFFICIAL

Washington, March 18.—The Senate, in executive session, confirmed the nomination of Walter L. Cohen as Comptroller of Customs at New Orleans by a vote of 39 to 38. Senator Walsh of Massachusetts cast the deciding vote in favor of the colored Republican leader from Louisiana.

TONE REACTIONARY IN COTTON MARKET

New York, March 18.—Reactionary tendencies marked trading in the cotton market today. Options declined from 22 to 37 points on Southern, Wall street and short selling in response to easier Liverpool cables. March sold at 28.45, off 37; May at 28.80, off 29, and July at 28.18, off 22.

MAY NAME HER TO HIGHER OFFICE

Friends of Danvers Woman May Bring Fight to Floor at Annual Meeting in May

Dark storm clouds hover over the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs.

The nominating committee has dropped the name of Mrs. Wallace P. Hood of Danvers, third vice-president of the organization, from the list of candidates to be presented to the organization at the annual meeting and this is expected to start a ruction of no mean proportions.

Officers of the organization will be elected at the annual meeting in May. The names of the candidates selected by the nominating committee, however, are to be made public April 1.

Mrs. Hood, who has served as third vice-president of the organization four years, admits she has not been asked to serve as an officer another year.

"Mrs. Hood's removal is for the good of the Federation, in the judgment of the nominating committee," is the only comment of Mrs. Lena R. Wellington of Winchester, chairman of the committee.

Usually no word of the prospective officers is given out until the nominating committee files its report. The dropping of Mrs. Hood, however, became generally noised about and stirred up such a rumpus that action of the committee became known prematurely.

Friends of Mrs. Hood are active. Even though her name is not presented by the nominating committee, when the annual meeting is held at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, they plan to present her name from the floor for a higher office than she now holds. Even the most optimistic member admits such action will start such a row as the Federation has never before known.

BRANDEIS IS NAMED FOR 3D PARTY SLATE

Justice in High Favor as Running Mate With LaFollette

Washington, March 18.—Definite plans for a third party movement were disclosed here today by friends of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin.

Those behind the movement are now looking for a running mate for the Wisconsin Senator, and their choice seems to be Associate Justice Brandeis of the United States Supreme Court.

The fact that Democrats are under discussion for the second place is pointed to as indicating the nonpartisan character of the movement. The name of Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy, also has been urged for second place.

BRAVES REFUSE TO TRADE MICKEY O'NEIL FOR MILTON STOCK

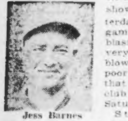
PHILLIPS MAKES A BIG HIT

By NICK FLATLEY

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 18.—The Braves opened the Florida home season today. They took on the Senators in a game that had all the proper froth and fringe openings should have. There was a band, Ex-mayor Al Lang threw out the first ball, and that sort of thing.

There was also a good prospect for a Braves' victory, as most of regular outfielders forgot their troubles, and were ready for a little whirl at the pastime.

Al Nixon's arm had recovered sufficiently well to let him step into the picture, while Walt Cruize was fit also. Walton showed that yesterday in a scrub game when he blasted out three very torrid base blows. It was poor outfielding that defeated the club at Tampa Saturday.



Jess Barnes

Stuffy McInnis was excused from the final practice for the hectic week because of a wrenched ankle. He twisted the prop against the Senators Saturday, but the rest had him back in the team this afternoon. Stuffy pulled a lot of sensational stuff in the soft going and suffered in consequences.

Before the week is out, Manager Bancroft will have a good line on his young pitchers. He must shoot them all in there, which is the one thing that makes him look joyfully towards the big string of games.

Casey Stengel

It's a mistake to risk players, who are not in shape, but who must give everything, in these Spring games. But the gates are pretty good. And that something else again.

Of the baby hurlers, the most promising just now is Sterling Stryker, who did his sharp shooting in Worcester last season. This burly right-hander is mighty fast, has a real curve ball, and acts very naturally out in the box. It usually takes the young men a month or two to get the proper movements and notions, and one w ho come s up ac- notions and one who come up accoutred, is welcomed with open arms.

Brookline Jack Kelleher has a cold in his arm, and will be on the shelf for a few days.

Bob Padgett

Bob Smith, who is pressing him mighty hard for third base job will be in there, and Robert, himself, admits that anybody's going to have a tough job shoving him off.

Which is, of course, the proper spirit. Smith was a pretty good infielder last Summer, and with that experience under his belt should be very useful this campaign.

Branch Rickey, who is wily paging a catcher, invaded St. Petersburg and tried to pluck a backstop from the Braves. The club is probably the best equipped in the league, from a trading point of view, but Rickey didn't get anywhere. President Matheuson and Judge Fuchs both admitted that Branch was perfectly willing to take everything and give nothing in return.

Rickey wanted Mickey O'Neil, but he never did have a chance to get him. We have a notion that he would have traded Third Baseman Milton Stock, who is sort of a hold-out. But O'Neils are scarcer than aging third basemen. Branch went away from here to try to do business with the Dodgers, but he probably will wind up trying out the Braves again.

With Gibson a hold out, and tentatively shifted to Worcester, there is little chance for a trade. Eddie Phillips of Boston College has made a great hit with the coaches and manager. He acts like a big leaguer, in fact the word had been passed along to Rickey, and Branch made an offer for the young man. But he didn't offer enough.

The doctors have decided that Gus Felix must be operated on, and the young man will leave for Birmingham to go under the knife.

MALLONEY'S ROLLER, DEFEATED IN MATCH

Happy King of the Newsboys claims revenge is sweet. The Happy all-star aggregation walloped the life out of John Maloney's circulation quintet on the Summer street alleys, winning by forty pins.

"Hap" suggested to Maloney that he go get a better team after counting up the total pinfall. Maloney's star, "Lightning Eye," who Happy declared was ringer, faded out of the picture when "Hap" got going with his cross-fire ball.

The King of the Newsies took the berries, winning not only the game for his side, but took the only money prize offered. Hap's high string total was a pinfall of 140 pins and his intention is to enter the Boston world's championship tournament at the Boston Arena.

Maloney has issued another challenge in the [illegible] financial inducemetn might get the "champs" rolling again.

OTTAWA SEXTET BOOKED WITH UNICORNS

At the Arena tonight the B. A. A. champions will tackle the Shamrocks of Ottawa.

Tubber Cronin

The Shamrocks established themselves in this city by the neat manner in which they disposed of Boston College and the Maples. The Shamrocks play with less effort than any team that has come here from Canada.

The B. A. A. forward line, which has functioned so brilliantly in the last six weeks, will meet its match when Pete Dellefoille, Grey Burnett and D'Arcy Leamy begin to operate.

Dellefoille rates with the great wings of Canadian club hockey. Burnett's wonderful poke checking in center ice keeps his team out of a lot of bother. It was this poke checking by Burnett that stopped Sonney Foley in the Boston College game. It was the first time this year that any center ice man checked Sonny.

Hago Harrington, Jerry Geran and Tubber Cronin have played dashing forward line hockey for the Unicorn. The youngsters have showed resourcefulness in working with wizard Geran.

But tonight they will be up against forwards who have had long experience. They know all the tricks.

The battle of the defence is sure to prove interesting. Jacques Fournier, Jack Rose and Ski Scott are as good as Ag Smith, Irv Small or Eddie Enright and Frenchie La Croix.

The Sussex, N. B., team will come here Friday to play the Maples and the B. A. A. on Saturday.

This Sussex team will make its first trip to the States.

Camp Notes

Tampa, Fla., March 18.—Washington's most expensive rookie pitcher, Byron Speece, former Western League underhand flinger, was nominated by Manager Harris to start today's game against the Boston Braves.

Avalon, Catlina Island, March 18.—Three-inning warmups are over and Cub pitchers will have endurance contests from now on in the impending games with the Los Angeles and Vernon Coast Leaguers.

Bradentown, Fla., March 18.—Aside from their aversion to base hits during nine innings, the White Sox looked fair in their 12-inning defeat at the hands of the Giants 5 to 4. Eddie Collins reported, but did not play.

Leesburg, Fla., March 18.—The stick work of his bunch of regulars was receiving the undivided attention of Manager Fletcher today as a result of yesterday's second defeat by the Brooklyn Dodgers. The score was 6 to 4.

Montgomery, Ala., March 18.—With the return of warm weather the Athletics rookies today were put through the third degree by Connie Mack. The entire squad went through a spirited practice.

TICKETS GO TO TEN COLLINS NAMERS

Those who labelled picture number 12 John "Shono" Collins of the Red Sox were correct. Only the following ten, however, of the thousand odd who picked the correct title, will be awarded tickets.

Tom Lyons, Jr., No. 122 Auburndale street, Auburndale.

Miss Alice Crowley, No. 1185 Boylston Street, Newton Upper Falls.

Robert Leventhal, No. 18 Wolcott street, Dorchester.

Mel Camuso, No. 20 Short street, Lawrence.

William Blakeney, No. 77 Court street, Newtonville.

Ray Fahey, No. 89 Putnam street, East Boston.

William Freeman, No. 98 Kirtland street, Groton.

Louis McGrath, No. 98 Kirtland street, Lynn.

George Delaney, No. 44 Concord avenue, Somerville.

F. A. Landstrom, No. 116 Edge Hill road, East Milton.

The tickets are going fast, like the snow in the March sunshine. This sounds as if the Contest editor was waxing poetic. But no. After reading over the answers of some thousand contestants, the editor feels anything but the poetic urge.

The editor must congratulate "Shono" Collins. He was recognized by fully half of the two thousand or more contestants. But like every other player, whose picture has appeared, Collins was called everything but "Spark Plug," by some of the contestants.

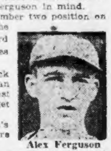
Advice on how to recognize the players has been given in this column before. It's easy. No microscope is needed, just a keen eye and a careful look. After that, just sign the dotted line and wait for the announcement of the winners.

Alex Ferguson Will Be Second Pitcher

By FRED LANE

San Antonio, Tex., March 18.—The quietest man in baseball with a fair break in luck will be the noisiest, this year. Noisiest in the sense of being effective is another way to explain the Alex Ferguson in mind.

"Rangy" Alex, at this early date, is conceded number two position on Manager Lee Fohl's pitching staff and although he never may be the equal of the celebrated Howard Emkhe, he will run a close second to the Los Angeles golfer.



Alex Ferguson

Alex was not what you would call a hard luck pitcher last season, but deserved a better fate than the one accorded him. He was one of the steadiest pitchers on Manager Chance's team, but failed to get the proper support when that was needed.

Washington was always a victim of Ferguson's arm and Manager Fohl expects him to add more victims to his list this season.

In fact, the Yankees didn't relish his selection for the hurling job whenever they had an occasion to play the Red Sox. The big fellow is in excellent shape. He has been one of the hardest workers in the pitching roster.

Boston fans well remember the brilliant showing he made towards the close of last season. He seemed to have found his stride when the cause was lost. With a smile from Lady Luck at the start he is sure to prove a valuable asset to the Red Sox.

Curt Fullerton

Curtis Fullerton is another pitcher expected to bolster up the club. Fullerton has been with the Sox for three seasons, but has yet to find himself. He worked against San Antonio recently and went through without blowing up when in the hole, as he did so often during the 1923 campaign.

The East Boston pitcher has a world of stuff. His control is exceptionally good and his screw ball is working to perfection.

Manager Fohl spent the forenoon catching both Ferguson and Fullerton in the warming up practice and seemed satisfied with their work.

Fohl also donned the mit to warm up Oscar Fuhr and Jack Quinn. He has spent considerable time with pitchers the past fortnight.

Of course there is little doubt but that the battery for Boston against the Yankees on April 15th will be Ehmke and O'Neill, but Ferguson will take second crack at the world's champions.

Bill Piercy

The field was in poor condition. That accounts for the short workout. The outfield was soft and heavy. It was impossible for the gardeners to work with any degree of certainty. Bill Piercy attempted to break in a pair of new shoes. He raised a pair of blisters on his heels that will halt his daily workout for a few days. Piercy was of the opinion that the "dogs" would be in shape for today but Trainer Bierhalter is on the negative side of the house.

Jack Ryan, pitching coach, is confined to his room with a fever. He will stay in bed until the bad weather clears.

Will Play for Memorial

New Orleans, March 18.—On Wednesday the Yankees and Pelicans wil play for the benefit of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial.

BILLIARDS IN BEDROOM.

Temperament Plays Part in Schaefer's Game.

A few weeks before Jake Schaefer, former champion of the world at 18.2 balkline billiards, came east last winter to play Willie Hoppe in a challenge match in which he hoped to regain his lost title, the Hotel Pennsylvania received the following telegram:

"Los Angeles, Cal.
Hotel Pennsylvania, N. Y.
Will arrive in about two weeks to begin practice for championship match. Hold rooms. Have billiard table set up in bedroom.
JAKE SCHAEFER."

The Hotel called in an executive of a famous firm of billiard table manufacturers, to help cater to the needs of the temperamental former champion.

According to this gentleman, only one other person has made a similar request in his forty years of experience with the billiard game. She was another "song-bird," none other than Adelina Patti, the famous singer.

A WHIRLWIND AT 63.

Remarkable Record of Woman Golfer.

Mrs. Caleb F. Fox of the Huntingdon Valley Country Club of Philadelphia has never failed to qualify in a single championship in which she has taken part since 1899.

This is most remarkable in the annals of golf, considering the fact that Mrs. Fox is sixty-three years old, and, at present counting, has ten grandchildren.

Last year in the February tournament at Belleair, Fla., Mrs. Fox took the measure of Miss Glenna Collett, the present National Champion, who had distinguished herself at that time by taking the medal in the National championship and defeating Miss Cecil Leitch, the British Champion, in a tournament at Philadelphia. Just to prove that this was not a fluke, Mrs. Fox [illegible] repeated the performance at Belleair again this past winter.

THE ETERNAL EXTERMINATOR

W. S. Kilmer's Horse Completes Five and One-Half Racing Years.

There is a wonder horse cropping up in racing circles every year. He runs a season or two seasons and another horse surpasses him and becomes the horse of the century. What happens to the former star? Is it a total eclipse? In most cases yes, but not so with Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Exterminator.

At seven years, after having won four Saratoga Cups, one Kentucky Derby, three Pimlico Cups, one Latonia Cup, three Toronto Autumn Cups, two autumn Gold Cups and one Independence handicap and earned $233,000 for his owner. Exterminator still gallops on to victory, side by side with two and three-year-olds whose sires Exterminator ran neck and neck with at the beginning of his career

After beating Billy Kelly at Havre de Grace last April, Exterminator galloped his mile and a quarter in 2:04 2-5 in the Kentucky handicap at Churchill Downs, a remarkable performance. Next, he defeated Grey Lag in a renewal of the Brooklyn handicap.

Although Firebrand defeated him in the Independence handicap later, in the season, Exterminator finished unpaced and Mr. Kilmer still has enough faith in him to send him to Tijuana in February. This after five and a half years of racing!

SHARKEY GETS ACID TEST IN BOUT WITH RECORD TONIGHT

PUNCHERS CLASH AT TRIPLE A

By JACK CONWAY.

By 11 p.m. we shall know whether Jack Sharkey, latest heavyweight sensation, is to be taken seriously as a possible opponent for Jack Dempsey. The former heavyweight champion of the Navy and a riot as a fighter since he entered the ranks of the professionals, is billed to clash with Eddie Record of Nashua, N. H., in a ten-round bout at the Armory A. A.'s show at the Grand Opera House tonight.

Sharkey, a youth of twenty-two, has knocked out every man he has met, inside of six rounds. He was unbeatable while in the Navy. Since receiving his discharge from service he has knocked out three rugged professionals.

Wise judges of boxers, like Jack Bulger, Alex McLean and Leo Flynn, consider Sharkey the best heavyweight prospect to smash his way to the front ranks of his class since Dempsey first attracted attention.

The youthful Mister Sharkey finds himself in much the same position that Paul Berlenbach was in prior to his mill with Jack Delaney. Sharkey, like Berlenbach, has bowled over all opposition. He stands with his face towards the enemy ready to knock out any man who threatens his ring prestige.

RECORD HAS EXPERIENCE TO TEST SHARKEY.

The public demanded that Sharkey be tested in a bout with a seasoned campaigner. And so Record, a consistent winner, was selected to toss punches at the former sailor.

Record, almost as youthful as Sharkey, recently scored a couple of sensational wins over Whitey Allen. He is a fast, clever boxer and sharp, snappy puncher. He has trained carefully for tonight's encounter and is of the opinion he will be able to put the skids under Sharkey.

While it lasts it should be a punching battle. Perhaps more.

Records will act in the role of Jack Delaney, and do for Sharkey what the Bridgeport man did for Berlenbach.

This writer considers such a happening unlikely. Sharkey shapes up like a wonder fighter, perhaps a coming champion. If you attend tonight's show, you may be telling your friends tomorrow that you saw the youth in action who will eventually defeat Dempsey.

Some youngster, just beginning to learn the fundamentals of the fistic racket, will probably be the one to dethron the champion.

WILLS, FIRPO, GIBBONS OUT OF THE RUNNING.

Harry Wills, great negro heavyweight, apparently is not to be given a chance at the championship, while Firpo has failed to show such form in his contests with Lodge and Spalla that would warrant the belief that he has improved any since he was knocked out by the Tiger Man in two rounds.

Tom Gibbons, of course, does not class with the champion despite the fact he ambled through fifteen rounds with Dempsey at Shelby.

Therefore, the interest in our young heavyweights. Sharkey is one of the most promising of the lot.

Ted Coolidge of Manchester, N. H., who recently knocked out Whitey Allen in a round, will have Jack McLellan of Somerville as an opponent in the semi-final of 8 rounds. Coolidge, a rugged puncher, says he will get inside of McLellan's defense and win by a kayo. Jack comes back with the reply he will show the Manchester youth more boxing gloves than he ever saw before.

Mike Mandot, of Cambridge, will meet Charley Flanagan of Dorchester in one of the eight-round prelims, while in the other Billy Nolan of England will oppose Young Costello of Weymouth.

FRATERNAL NIGHT AT BOWYING TOURNEY

EDDIE RECORD JACK SHARKEY

Jack Conway Picks Sharkey to Win Over Record

Jack Conway, holder of the world's record for picking winners, hands out the following dope on tonight's heavyweight classic at the Armory A. A.:

"You will see plenty of punching when Jack Sharkey and Eddie Record begin swapping blows at the Armory A. A. tonight," says Jack. "Both youths like to stand in the centre of the ring and swap blows.

"We are picking Sharkey to win, though we think he will have to show remarkable form to conquer Record. Sharkey is a free punching young man with plenty of aggressiveness and courage. Record is faster and a better boxer, and these assets may enable him to puncture the Sharkey bubble."

Jack has picked thirty-seven winners out of a possible forty-one this year.

FATHER MATHEWS ARE OUT FOR LYNN TITLE

The Father Mathew team will claim the basketball championship of Lynn by default unless the Joyce Bros. A. A. will agree to a series of games.

That is the gist of a statement made by Manager Frank Wall of the Father Mathew Club.

Manager Wall declares that he has been unable to get Manager O'Shea of the Joyce Bros. Club to agree to play for the title.

The Mats have a record of twenty victories in twenty-one games this season.

PHILADELPHIA RACING MAN HAS FOUR NAGS

Baltimore, March 18.—Joseph L. Murphy of Philadelphia will take the field at Bowie in April with a string of four homebred three-year-olds, the products of his modest stud at Phoenixville, Penn., where Flitterbold made his first season.

These horses arrived at Prince George Park last week in the charge of James Healy, Sr., whose son, James Healey, Jr., campaigned Spotcash and the other members of the stable of A. C. Bostwick of New York through Canada last season with success.

DELANEY-CLARK BOUT STOPPED IN EIGHTH

Newark, N. J., March 18.—After nearly eight rounds of terribly poor fighting between Jack Delaney and Jackie Clark at the Newark Armory, Referee Harry Lewis ordered the bout to cease.

Jack Delaney

The referee acted on the complaint of Platt Adams, chairman of the New Jersey Boxing Commission, that Clark wouldn't do any fighting.

It was ordered that Clark's share of the purse be held up.

At the same time, Delaney wasn't fully exonerated.

Just before the battle started, the announcer told the crowd that Delaney weighed 160 pounds and Clark 162. Harry Lewis was referee.

In the first round, started at 11:15 o'clock, they danced and clinched. Clark threw his left into Delaney's face. A lot of backing and dancing finished the round.

Clark started a little flurry when they came out for the second. Delaney roused himself and hooked with his left. Then he drove Clark to the corner and landed a hard right to the body.

Delaney went out for the fifth very much annoyed and dropped over two hard lefts. Clark ran around, but Delaney managed to land a hard right, his first real blow. The crowd stamped and jeered at Clark for his runaway tactics.

Before the seventh round started Referee Lewis ordered Clarke to fight. After a long skirmish, Delaney landed a right hook. Delaney landed some body bolws, but the crowd started to walk out.

Platt Adams, chairman of the New Jersey Boxing Commission called the referee to the ropes and told him to warn the boxers to battle, or he would throw them out.

That order, conveyed to the fighters, did a little good.

SHEVLIN HAS A CHANCE FOR A TITLE TILT

An elimination contest to determine logical opponent to meet Micky Walker, welterweigt champion of the world looms up for Eddie Shevlin of Roxbury, if he takes the measure of Jimmy Jones of Youngstown, O. in their 10-round skirmish at Mechanics Building next Friday night.

Al Sears

Promoters now are angling for a fight between Shevlin and Eddie Bunrbrook, the soldier-fighter who has scored 46 knockouts out of 59 fights. Shevlin and Burnbrook fought a draw at Scranton, Penn., late in January, althought it was the consensus of opinion that the Dartmouth professor won.

Burnbrook has scored triumphs over all the contenders for Walker's title except Shevlin. Paul Doyle was forced to bow before him.

For this reason Eddie is more anxious than ever before to win over Jones. Jimmy has been a veritable stumbling block to the Dartmouth boxing instructor. He seems to be a jinx that Shevlin cannot overcome.

Shevlin lost in Pittsburgh to Jones on a questionable foul, the second time in his ring career that he lost a decision under such circumstances.

To judge by the form Shevlin displayed in the gym against Johnny Avilla of Lowell, he is ready for the contest of his career.

Al Sears of East Boston and Bob Lowery, Scotch champion will travel over the eight round route while another eight rounder will be between Dinny Glynn of Roxbury and Larry Robinson of Cambridge.

PIRATES AND CUBS TRADE SHORTSTOPS

Chicago, March 18.—Charley Hollocher, the Cubs shortstop, probably will be traded for Rabbit Maranville, of the Pirates.

Freddy Duffy Show to Offer Stage and Ring Stars

All up for the great testimonial for Freddy Duffy, former ring star, which will be staged at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night.

The most brilliant program ever to be staged at a testimonial will be offered. There will be acts from all of the leading theatres, while virtually all of our star boxers will appear.

Duffy won fame in the ring a decade ago. Jack Britton and Owen Moran were numbered among his opponents.

Duffy's wife recently died and left him with seven children. His three motor trucks, which were not insured, were then destroyed by fire, while two of his children were taken ill.

ALMOST A RIOT AT BATTLE IN NASHUA

Nashua, March 18.—A near riot followed the decision of Referee John Martin of Charlestown, Mass., who awarded Charles Fox of Boston the decision in the second round over Jack Harko of Manchester at the Nashua Driving Club.

In the second round Fox hit a blow which was declared to be low. Harko dropped to the canvas and about 400 Manchester rooters started to protest the blow.

Sompson, Harko's manager, jumped into the ring and Martin immediately awarded the bout to Fox.

The chief of police then took things in his own hands to quell the disturbance. He ordered a doctor to inspect Harko in the dressing room, and then later announced that the referee's decision would stand, as Simpson broke the rules when he entered the ring.

BLACK GOLD WINNER IN THE LOUISIANA

New Orleans, March 18.—Black Gold, owned by Mrs. R. M. Hoots of Tulsa, Okla., got home first in the Louisiana Derby, the feature of the closing day.

Mooney had the leg up and the favorite was ridden brilliantly throughout. He was clocked in 1:57 4-5 over the mile and an eighth route.

Brilliant Cast, ridden by Carroll and almost forgotten in the betting, was second with Rinkey, the only filly in the race, third.

Rinkey was ridden by Ivan Parke and carried low weight, 112 pounds

TARAMASCHI IN HOT ATTACK ON KOTSONAROS

Angelo Taramaschi, the Italian champion, was a caller at the Boston American today and to say that he was hot under the collar would be putting it mild. While in the office Angelo left $500 as a forfeit to meet George Kotsonaros in a finish match at any time or at any place. "Why should the Greek, Kotsonaros, be given a match with Stasiak?" roared Taramaschi. "I am entitled to a match with Stasiak before he is, and the proper thing to do would be to give me a chance with the Greek and the winner to meet Stasiak and the winner of that match with Lewis. I have tried being nice both in and out of the ring and it doesn't get me anything. Now I am going to get rough.

AngeloTaramaschi

"I want a match with Kotsonaros and I want it whether he wins or loses with Stasiak. If I don't get it at the Grand I will meet him on the street."

In the meantime, Angelo is matched to meet George Farmer Bailey in one of the all-star bouts at the Grand on next Thursday night. In still another bout Cora Livingston, the champion lady wrestler of the world, will defend her title in a one-fall match with Belle LaMar, the French lady champion.

In the main event on the card, Stanley Stasiak, the Polish Lion, and George Kotsonaros, the Greek champion, are all set for their finish match.

Kotsonaros has met but one defeat this year and that at the hands of Lewis. A win over the big Pole means another title bout for him. Many experts figure him the cleverest wrestler in the world and, with his 197 pounds, this season, figure he has a chance to beat any wrestler living. He is confident he can beat the Polish Lion and the Greeks of Greater Boston, as well as many American fans, will be with him to win.

On the other hand, Stasiak has gained greatly in popularity among the Polish population since his victory over Wladek Zbyszko. They are banking on him to uphold the honor of the Polish people on the mat. As he is young and coming, he should have a brilliant future before him. If he beats his Greek rival on Thursday night, he will issue a formal challenge to Lewis for a bout for the title.

BILLY MURPHY WINS IN LYNN MAIN BOUT

Billy Murphy, the fighting Harp of Lowell, celebrated St. Patrick's Day in a blaze of glory when he clearly demonstrated that he was the master of Al Shubert of New Bedford at the Casino A. C. of Lynn. Murphy soundly trounced Shubert in the feature bout of ten rounds.

Murphy took eight of the ten rounds. Two were even. Murphy hooked, jabbed and danced around Shubert with ease and when Shubert got inside he tied him up so that he could not swing either hand.

In the semi-final bout Irish (Kid) Williams, of Worcester, defeated Lefty Williams, of Lowell, in eight rounds. Lefty could not fathom the Kid and the Kid had him bloody in the first round.

In the preliminaries Tommy Cayton beat Jimmy Plazo of Beverly in six rounds and in the other Tommy Lee, of Salem, knocked out Dan Sullivan, of Cambridge, in the first round.

JOHNNY BUFF WINS BOUT WITH SCHWARTZ

Baltimore, Md., March 18 (Universal).—Johnny Buff of Jersey City, former world's bantamweight champion and American flyweight champion, was awarded the decision of the judges and the referee at the end of his twelve-round bout with Benny Schwartz in the Fourth Regiment Armory.

The men fought as bantamweights. Both tipped the beam at 115 pounds at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

WATERBURY MANAGER AFTER SENATOR STAR

Waterbury, March 18.—Manager William E. Bransfield of the Waterbury team is after a slugging outfielder supposed to be Carr Smith, who was with the Raleigh team of the Piedmont League last year.

Smith led the league in hitting and finished with .418. He was sold to Washington, and is with that team in the South at present.

BUFFALO NAMES BOXERS FOR TOURNEY

The Buffalo Association of the A. A. U. looks forward to a victory in the big international tri-city amateur tournament which will be staged at Mechanics Building next Monday night.

W. H. Cuddy

Buffalo boxers will come here to tackle the boxers representing Toronto and this city. It will be the first appearance of the boys from the Niagara district in a tournament in Boston.

Pitted against this array of talent William H. Cuddy, chairman of the Olympic boxing committee, will select a Boston team of Olympic prospects.

FIRPO ASSERTS HE'S THROUGH WITH RING

Buenos Aires, March 18.—Luis Firpo, champion heavyweight of South America, announces that he intends to abandon his career as a boxer after his bout with Al Reich. Firpo and Reich will engage in a 15-round bout in Buenos Aires April 5.

Luis Firpo

Firpo said he is sick and tired of pugilism and the notoriety that goes with it. He has made enough money, he declared, to satisfy him and he wants to retire and live his own quiet life.

His decision to quit the ring, Firpo went on, was reached notwithstanding pressure to the contrary on the part of numerous friends in the boxing world.

He received from Tex Rickard an offer of $500,000 for matches with Harry Wills and Jack Dempsey. He said he told Rickard's agent that he was not interested.

"Do not think I say this just to make a sensation," Firpo said. "I am tired of being a sensation. I am tired of managers, trainers and promoters and of boxing."

Asked if he was sincere about giving up the chance for the world's championship, Firpo said: "I don't care about meeting Dempsey or any one else. I am fed up with boxing and championships. I want to live my own life. Everywhere I go people follow me; they besiege me in my house and office and everywhere, and most of them want to get something out of me.

"The requests I have received for financial aid total $700,000 and those I have helped are thankless. I have made enough money to satisfy me.

"What I plan to do after the Reich fight is to go to Europe for a rest and to attend the Olympic games, then perhaps I shall go to Australia and Japan."

Firpo added that he would never forget the hospitality and friendly treatment he received in the United States.

Firpo said he will train privately at a suburban hotel for the fight with Reich and will not appear in public more than once or twice, "just to satisfy them," as he explained.

promised to come before United States Commissioner Hayes today to answer charges of using the mails to defraud.

At the same time it is rumored that two of the "master minds' of the latest financial bubble have gone to California to escape the raw winds of a March in New England.

The Redmond failure continues to pile up losses by the millions. Early estimates placed the total amount of money mulcted from the public as $5,000,000. During the past four days this has grown steadily until it is now apparent that the collapse of the Redmond structure will cost investors more than $10,000,000.

With the impending failure of astounding total of fifteen millions of dollars.

Accountants working on the Redmond books for the receivers say there will be some $300,000 in assets. These assets consist of such material things as office furniture, etc., things that could not be carted away and cashed in.

Stories from dismayed investors, many of them women, pour in daily to the receivers and to the various district attorney's offices. Scores more are received by the Boston American thanking the paper for its efforts in rounding up the brokers who are doing business fraudulently.

One woman wrote a letter to G. F. Redmond, personally, in which she begged him to try and make some effort to deliver to her the securities supposed to have been held by his company for her. They represented her life savings, she said. This letter is in official hands. The securities have not been located.

Another letter, this one addressed to an official, comes from a Cambridge man and reads as follows:

URGED TO BUY

"Dear Sir:

"Doubtless you know how much the injured attitude assumed by G. F. Redmond is justified, also that not more than five per cent. of the suckers that played his game ever saw any return. He and Lamont claim they acted only as brokers. Does it stand to reason that Commissions should have so enriched an individual (who a few years ago was very shy) and furnished the lavish expenditures for branch offices.

"In the Fall of 1919 Redmond's floor men were advising customers (confidentially) to buy Ajax Divide—a good thing the house was bringing out. It could be bought for fifty cents a share then. It was finally listed and run up to sixty cents. Then down to 25 cents. Then down to two cents. Then vanished.

"About two years later a play was made on Southern States Consolidated. The best thing that could be said about it was that it owned a one-half interest in Newton Oil. (Homa had the other half and was selling for two or three cents.)

BOTTOM DROPS OUT.

"In about one hour Southern States was run up to $1 3-8. G. F. was standing by to see that the quotes from the curb were put up and kept up. It broke later to 40 cents and looked like a good buy for recovery. Instead it subsided and still subsides.

"In the Boston and Montana racket who furnished Harry Sears (publicity agent for B. M.) with the addresses of Redmond's customers so that they could be bombarded with letters from "a fellow stockholder" urging them to hold Boston Montana for its wonderful profits to come?

"Why did Redmond for weeks send circular letters in a deluge on Boston-Montana and its wonderful prospects and development. (It was common talk that he received a hundred thousand shares gratis).

"Respectfully Yours,
"O.W.K."

REDMOND'S LIST.

Yesterday's the Boston American gave a partial list of stocks boomed by G. F. Redmond & Co., investment in which cost customers of the first millions of dollars. Here is another list which was boomed by Redmond and which cost investors additional millions.

Acme Packing Company, Acme Coal Mining Co., Alcan Oil (jocularly referred to as "Oilcan"), Allen Oil, Allied Packers, Belcher Mines, Carib Syndicate, Caledonia Mining Co., Columbian Emerald Syndicate, Ltd., Magma Copper, Marland Oil of Mexico, Marsh Mines Cons., McNamara Crescent Mining Co., McNamara Mining & Milling Co., Mexican Panuco Oil Co.

Mother Lode Coalition Mines Co., Mother Lode Copper Mines Co., Mother Lode Copper Mines (old stock), Nixon Nevada Cons. Mines Co., North American Oil and Refining Corporation, Ray Hercules Copper Co. (old and new), Reo Motors, Rex Cons. Mining Co., Rochester Silver Corp., Ryan Cons., Sepulpa Refining Co., Seamans Oil Co., Silver Pick Cons. Mines Co., Skelly Oil, Southern Coal and Iron, Tonopah Belmont Development Co. and Tonopah Divide Mining Co.

It must be remembered that while the $10,000,000 in liabilities on the books of G. F. Redmond & Co., Inc., at the present time is an appalling figure, it does not begin to show the losses of the public through the Redmond concern. For ten years an immense overhead of salaries, rent and exquisite furnishings has been taken from the public. The total losses suffered by the public has run well over $100,000,000 during these years. One member of the clique places the figure at a half billion dollars.

Those who so far have promised to send representatives are Bates, Colby, Connecticut Agricultural College, Massachusetts Agricultural College, University of Maine, University of New Hampshire and University of Vermont.

HOPE FOR JAPANESE EMPEROR SLIGHT

London, March 18 (I.N.S.).—An official bulletin, issued at Tokio, states that the mental faculties of the Japanese Emperor are gradually weakening and hope for his recovery is slight, according to a Central News dispatch from Tokio this afternoon. The dispatch added that the attending physicians fear an immediate turn for the worse.

Crown Prince Hirohito, who was married last year, is acting as regent.

The Emperor is in his forty-sixth year. He has been ailing since he ascended the throne in 1915.

WILLETT JURY HEAD GETS PAY-RAISE PEN

The quill pen used by Governor Cox in signing the bill which results in jurors getting $9 a day in the $15,000,000 suit of George F. Willett against a group of Boston bankers, was presented to Charles R. Powers of Randolph, jury foreman, when the "conspiracy" trial resumed today at Dedham.

The jurors took their pay raise—by special act of the Legislature—in dignified fashion, smiling slightly when Representative Samuel Wragg presented the pen to the foreman. A few minutes before the county commissioners had approved officially the legislative act.

COLLEGIAN HURT IN ST. PATRICK'S "SCRAP"

Hartford, Conn., March 18.—Herbert J. Noble of East Hartford Conn., sophomore at Trinity College sustained a possible fracture of the skull during a pitched battle between sophomores and freshmen preliminary to the St. Patrick's Day "scrap" which was postponed until today. Noble and another sophomore grappled with Edward Delaney of New Britain, Conn., and Donald B. Kennedy, New York, freshman. Noble, it is said, was hit over the head with a club. As a result members of both classes voted to suspend further hostilities.

Winthrop Employer Appeals $25 Fine for Attack on Young Woman

Jean Beliveau, brunette and twenty, obtained a position to aid her husband, Henry Beliveau, who was temporarily out of work, and she sat [illegible] kiss her employer as a part of the job. The employer, Louis Chorotas, proprietor of a restaurant at No. 66 Crest avenue, Winthrop Highlands, was found guilty of attacking her by Judge Joseph H. Barnes in East Boston District Court today.

Mrs. Beliveau was represented by Attorney William Maguire.

The girl testified that when she and her husband and little child went to a cantonment at Fort Heath to live she promptly obtained the position with Chorotas, who is married and has three children residing at No. 113 Revere street, Winthrop.

While Chorotas was making advances to her the girl said her husband entered the restaurant and saw Chorotas grasping her wrist.

"I didn't tell Henry what had happened or he would have cleaned up the place," she testified.

She said Chorotas twice seized her and each time begged for "just one little kiss."

The husband admitted that he had peered into a side window before entering the restaurant and observed the man holding his wife's wrists.

Judge Barnes imposed a fine of $25. Chorotas appealed.

ALL CREEDS ARE SERVED ALIKE AT BAPTIST HOSPITAL

WAITING LIST IS LONG

Only Those Who Can Afford to Pay Ward Fees Are Charged

This is the twenty-first of a series of articles which is a sequel to this newspaper's investigation of medical quackery in Greater Boston.

If you are not acquainted with reputable physicians and wish to make sure of obtaining expert advice and fair dealing, the series will show you how to avoid quacks by patronizing Boston's health centres, the best in the country.

Founded by Baptists but undenominational in its relief of the sick and suffering and with a staff whose names command the fullest confidence of the community, the pretentions of quackery are unknown at the New England Baptist Hospital in Parker Hill avenue, Roxbury.

Since 1893 this hospital has rendered a tremendous amount of service to the poor without recompense. This has been made possible only by the strictest economy and careful management as the institution has been laboring under a tremendous financial strain, inasmuch as it is supported mostly through the ward fees of pay patients. Never in its history has the hospital asked the public for contributions.

In the Fall a splendid building for patients and a nurses' home will be opened because of the increased demands on the old building.

LONG WAITING LIST.

Patients who can afford the charge pay ward fees of $3 a day which by no means meets the cost of the patient to the hospital. Those who cannot afford to pay are taken free. Private patients pay from $29 to $65 a week for private rooms.

Miss Amy M. Clark, R. N., superintendent, said that last year 5,763 days' free care was given patients.

"We have a tremendous waiting list," continued Miss Clark, "but are always overcrowded. I wish we could take care of the many who would like to be admitted but we are handicapped for funds on account of erecting the new building. We hope, when this building is completed that we will be able to do a much greater amount of this work.

NEW EQUIPMENT.

"Our new hospital will be equipped with laboratories containing apparatus for metabolism, X-ray and electrocardiograph tests. In fact, everything with which to conduct an up-to-date hospital.

"Our object is not to make money, just to help the worthy poor; all the fees of our pay patients help to do this. I would like it stressed that we make absolutely no distinction on account of race or religion. Although this is a Baptist institution we have always had many more Roman Catholics than Protestants here."

Some of the physicians and surgeons on the staff of the hospital are George S. C. Badger and Harry Goodale, surgeons; Delbert G. Jackson, obstetrician; Irving [illegible], orthopedist; S. B. Wolbach, pathologist; [illegible] M. Spalding, ophthalmologist; Harold Tobey, nose and throat; Frank Leahy, general diseases; and Hugh Cabot and Charles H. Porter, consulting physicians.

LIKE HOME TO SICK.

The hospital treats chiefly general medical and surgical cases, but also maintains a large department for maternity cases. It has no out-patient department.

All who have been cared for at this hospital say that the personal interest taken in them has made the place a home, rather than an institution.

'DRAFT' PENN STATUE IN WAR ON BANDITS

Philadelphia, March 18.—William Penn's statue on top of the City Hall tower is to be drafted by General Butler in his war on bandits. The director announced today that four [illegible] red searchlights would be mounted on Penn's broad-brimmed hat, facing the principal points of the compass.

Mexico City, March 18 (A. P.).—Acapulco, recently taken by the rebels, has been recaptured by Gen. TROTZKY MAY TAKE TCHITCHERIN'S JOB

Helsingfors, Finland, March 18 (I. N. S.).—Leon Trotzky, head of the Russian Red army, may succeed George Tchitcherin as Commissar for Foreign Affairs in the Soviet government, according to a report from Moscow today.

There is talk in Moscow of Tchitcherin going to London as Russian Ambassador. In this event Trotzky probably would succeed him.

It is understood the central committee of the Communist party has sent emissaries to South Russia to make peace with Trotzky.

IF RHEUMATIC EAT NO SWEETS

Says Glass of Jad Salts Helps to Overcome Rheumatism Acid

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry, avoid exposure, and above all, drink plenty of good water and avoid eating sweets of all kinds.

Rheumatism is caused by body waste and acids resulting from food fermentation. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this waste and acids, which keep accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste matter, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus often ridding the blood of rheumatic poison.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

CHICKIE

The Beautiful, but Bluntly Honest Story of a Boston Girl

By ELENORE MEHERIN

Seething Life of a Lovely Boston Girl of This Strange Today

THE STORY OF CHICKIE THUS FAR

Chickie Bryce's first romance ended disastrously. At seventeen she had created the illusion that Arthur Sontag, a school chum, was going to propose to her, but when he announced he was going away she was broken-hearted. Then Chickie's chum, Mary Blake, was married. At eighteen Chickie secured a position in a broker's office and there met Janina, a girl wise in the ways of the world. Jimmie, Mary's brother, declares his love for Chickie, but [illegible] Chickie meets a number of men and finally goes on a party with Jake Matson and a [illegible] but [illegible] Barry Dunne [illegible] home and, contrary to expectations, Chickie's father receives him kindly. They go for a ride and Chickie gets her first kiss. Surprised, but happy, she thinks only of Barry, but next day meets Jake on the street and is persuaded to dine with him. He invites her to join a party on his yacht for a trip to Florida. Next day he sends her a pin set with sapphires.

"I'M Nance, good people! Allow me to present my dear twin, Marge. She's melancholy today—but 'twill pass.

Marge, each eyelash standing forth, black and separate; her small, pretty mouth a dark crimson, flung a flaming orange scarf. She greeted Barry with an indifferent nod.

"Miss Abbott, if you please, Mr. Dunne."

Nance tittered in delight. "Isn't she immense? But I'll tell you, R[illegible]—that's your name, isn't [illegible]? She's been here two minutes longer than I—to be exact, sixteen years, one month and three days."

Nance reared her chin, walked off too [illegible] for anger. Nance [illegible] after her: "Honey, dear—[illegible] don't take the car——" She [illegible] back to her guests: "Well, what do you think of our house [illegible]?"

Chickie felt herself in a dream of soft beauty—all her senses quivered to the exquisite [illegible] She almost said aloud: "Well, how [illegible] you land here, Helen B[illegible]?"

As they returned to the [illegible] a girl was standing at the [illegible] carefully placing a net over her hair, beautifully smooth and [illegible] to her head. She was tall, a girl several years older than Chickie.

When Nance saw her she dashed over and threw her arms about her neck. "Ila—honey angel! I didn't even know you were here."

OLD NEW YORK RETURNS TO SOMERVILLE

Comedy Finely Acted by Stock Company at Popular House

The Manager Clyde E. McArdle of the Somerville Theatre made no mistake in [illegible] to the wishes of his patrons that "Little Old New York," the comedy by Rita Johnson Young, be presented for a second time at this theatre, was well demonstrated last night by the manner in which the large audience applauded every scene and incident of this amusing piece.

The story of the play takes one back to the year 1810, when Washington Irving, a Delavan and a Brevoort, were gay young bucks, and Cornelius Vanderbilt ran a ferry to Staten Island.

The romance is based upon Patricia O'Day's impersonation of her dead brother, who was principal heir to the Delavan estate. The manners, costumes and customs of long ago, and the charming brogue of Leeta [illegible]der, who played the role, made delightful entertainment.

The [illegible] style of repartee and brig[illegible] rejoinders so familiar in Irish comedies made a great hit with the audience.

[illegible] Nedell, as young Delavan, was excellent. Ann MacDonald, Frank Thomas, Phil Sheffield, Hilbert Brown and Grace Louise Huntington also did commendable work.

PARK THEATRE CROWDED BY 'WHITE WAY'

Wealth of Lively Incidents Form Plot of Big Photo-Play

"The Great White Way" at the Park Theatre is enjoying a popularity that results in a constant succession of crowded houses.

It is doubtful if ever there has been a photoplay made in which such a wealth of lively incidents form its plot and the great number of prominent characters in the world of sport, the stage and journalism form a cast that surely has never been duplicated in size or prominence.

The chief features of thrilling interest are a steeplechase horse race, a realistic prize fight, and scenes attendant upon the production of a musical revue.

The cast of principals include Anita Stewart, Oscar Shaw, T. Roy Barnes, Tom Lewis, Dore Davidson, Harry Watson, Olin Howland, Hal Forde, Stanley Forde and Billy Gould.

Among the prominent personages pictured are Arthur Brisbane, Tex Rickard, Irvin Cobb, H. C. Witwer, Arthur "Bugs" Baer, Damon Runyon, Nell Brinkley, George McManus.

"For years at various intervals my liver would become torpid, and I frequently suffered from gas in my stomach. I always resorted to a physician at such times with no little expense. After trying out results of other medicines I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and for a few mornings Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and I had the best of results. After I saw what it was doing for me, I advised my husband to try it and this past spring is the first in five years that he did not have to be under a doctor's care for stomach trouble and a rundown condition. Dr. Pierce's Discovery is truly wonderful. It is harmless, yet so beneficial. It is with the greatest pride I send this statement of Dr. Pierce's true honesty in giving to the public, within the reach of all, medicine far-reaching enough to heal disease. TRY AUTOMATIC JACKS IN YOUR SET

Save on Batteries and Are Easy to Install on Any Set

Did you build your American Super without automatic filament control jacks because you thought they were too complicated?

They're not as bad as they look, and the description is designed to help you to wire up these convenient jacks whether you are building a Super or some other kind of set

The filament control jacks for the detector and first stage have five leaves, or spring contacts, in addition to the frame.

The top leaf of the detector jack connects to the "A" minus binding post of the tube socket. The second leaf connects to the rheostat of the detector tube. The third leaf connects to the second leaf of the second jack and also to the rheostat of the first audio tube The fourth leaf connects to the detector "B" plus battery binding post.

The fifth leaf connects to the first audio transformer binding post marked "B" plus. The sixth contact connected to the second audio transformer binding post marked "P," and also to the plate binding post of the detector tube socket. If the set is regenerative, then this connection is made to the tickler.

JACKS ARE DIFFERENT.

The second jack which controls the first stage of audio is like the first, but has a slightly different hook-up

The first leaf is connected to "A" negative The second leaf is connected to the first leaf of the third jack and also to the rheostat of the second audio tube.

The fourth leaf is connected to the plate binding post of the first audio tube socket. The fifth leaf is connected to the second audio transformer binding post marked "P." The contact on the frame is connected to the transformer binding post marked "B" plus and also to the high voltage "B" plus binding post.

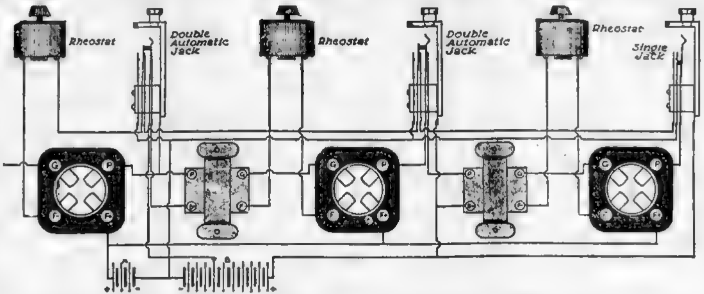
The third jack has only three leaves and the frame. The top leaf connects to the third leaf of the jack preceding it, or first audio jack just described The second leaf connects to "A" minus. The third leaf is connected to the plate binding post of the second audio tube socket. The contact on the frame connects to the high voltage "B" plus battery lead, which is connected to the first audio jack on the same corresponding contact the bottom one.

IS BEST METHOD.

The use of filament control jacks without a doubt is the best way of making and breaking your "A" and "B" circuits. When the plug is inserted the tubes light up and your 'B" circuit is closed on that particular stage and all preceding it. But the stages following are cut off.

Withdrawing the plug opens the "A" and "B" circuits, preventing injury to tubes and exhaustion of batteries by reason of neglect to turn them off by operating another switch or two. These jacks are also known as automatic jacks. They are and will save much grief by reason of forgetting to break the circuits.

CONVENIENT AND EASY TO INSTALL



FILAMENT CONTROL JACKS FOR DETECTOR AND AMPLIFIER

By using filament control jacks, connecting them as shown above, you eliminate the worry and bother of filament control switches and at the same time prolong the life of both tubes and batteries. The connection of the various leaves of each jack looks complicated, but by following the diagram and the directions, you will find it as easy as wiring a transformer or a condenser, with the exception that the soldering is a little more fussy.

SUMMER AIR TO BE FULL OF POLITICS

Democrats and Republicans Arrange for Stations at Conventions

Proceedings at the Republican and Democratic National Conventions will be broadcast all over the United States, according to an announcement just made.

Eighteen thousand dollars is to be spent on a broadcasting station at the Municipal Auditorium in Cleveland, where the Republican convention opens in June. The Democrats are planning to broadcast from the Municipal Broadcasting Station, New York, which is to be ready by May 15.

William G McAdoo, who recently announced his intention to build a station at his home in California and conduct his campaign from his front porch, is believed to be responsible for the latest political innovation

With the muck of "Teapot Dome" and the scandals [illegible] ever, [illegible] and other who like to spend their evenings with a pair of ear phones clamped onto their heads will have an enjoyable time of it next Summer, it is promised.

HOW TO MAKE SILVERED DIALS

Very neat-looking metal dials can be easily made at home.

Cut a sheet of stiff brass into a circle as large as you want the dial to be, and clean it thoroughly with steel wool until it is bright Drill a hole in the centre for the shaft and two small holes beside this hole, for the knob. Now make a solution of sulphuric acid and clean water, using one part of water to three parts of acid. Pour the acid into the water slowly, using a glass or porcelain dish as the container. This solution is used to clean the brass

Melt some tinfoil in a clean pan and dip the brass into it, allowing it to remain there for about fifteen seconds Then place it in a pan of water to cool.

The finish is brought out by rubbing the surface of the dial with a cloth until the "silver" shines up brightly. The markings on the edge of the dial are then made with India ink

The knob may be taken from an old broken dial or it can be made by cutting a piece from a broom handle

HARVARD SECOND IN SUMMER SCHOOLS

Swarthmore, Pa., March 18—The tremendous growth in the Summer schools of American universities and colleges is shown in an article in the current number of the journal of the National Education Association, written by Raymond Walters, dean of Swarthmore College, for twenty-three typical institutions of the thirty considered. The 1913 total Summer session attendance was 27,840 and for 1923 it was 74,438, an increase of 151 per cent. The increase of 1923 over 1919 for these same twenty-three institutions was 59 per cent. The increase of 1923 over 1916 was 83 per cent.

Enrollment of Summer schools in 1923 included Columbia with 12,675; Boston University, 2,037, and University of Pennsylvania, 2,024.

WHB TO RUN ALL-NIGHT PROGRAM

The annual all-night program of WHB, the Sweeney Automobile School in Kansas City, will be held the night of Sunday, March 23 There will be thirteen and a half hours of broadcasting, including church services instrumental classical concerts, vocal music, dance music rebroadcasting from other stations and educational and humorous talks The program will open at 7.00 p. m. and last until 8.35 in the morning of the following day. Programs will be mailed to fans who send a stamped envelope to the station.

The Listener

I brought in WCAD, the St. Lawrence University in Canton, N. Y. the other night for the first time It banged in like a local and from the telegrams read by the announcer it was reaching out equally as well at other points. Among the wires read were those from Wheeling, W. Va., and Duluth, Minn.

Miss Grace Marie Donahue's soprano rendering of "On the Road to Mandalay" over WTAT appeared a bit unusual to me in that this is usually considered "a man's song" Before Mr Volstead got busy it is Kipling gem which has been set to several tunes vied for popularity with the best of the "bottle ballads"

Strange how persons in widely separate points all resort to the same form of congratulatory telegrams. I heard an announcer the other night read a batch of them About 90 per cent of them began "Concert coming in fine" Gets monotonous after a while listening to them being read.

Sopranos on the radio, as a rule are inclined to sound screechy and I know many fans who tune out as soon as one is announced. But Mrs. Helene De Yone of Dorchester, whom I have heard several times, seems to have a soprano voice that sounds very well through the "Mike" She does a particularly finished rendition of "Good Night, Little Girl, Good Night."

I wonder what has become of the Meyer Davis Le Paradis Band in Washington? I used to get it from WCAP, Washington, two or three times a week and, to me, it was the best of all the jazzy bands playing for the radio. Of late, though, it hasn't been heard, but I'll wager the station is getting many queries as to why

Radio reception from England is reported with weekly regularity at York, Me., and thereby hangs a tale It seems particularly interesting that the voices across the ocean should be heard by people in that town many of whom are descended from Scottish prisoners of war who were transported by Oliver Cromwell.

Congratulations to John Shepard, 3d, Tomorrow

Thousands of radio fans, not only in New England but throughout the United States, tuning in on station WNAC, the Shepard Stores, have many times heard the program announcements made by "J. S."

John Shepard, 3d.

Few of these radio enthusiasts know that "J. S." is John Shepard, 3d, vice-president of the Shepard Stores.

New England's advancement in radio is due in a large measure to John Shepard, 3d, the grandson of the founder of the store.

Born in Boston—the illustrious son of an illustrious [illegible] Shepard, 3d, tomorrow celebrates his birthday.

Send a card or letter of congratulations to station WNAC—or if you have an amateur wireless sending set, flash in a message of congratulations.

RADIO POLL SHOWS COUNTRY IS WET

A radio poll on prohibition recently held by WJAZ, the Zenith-Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago, brought nearly three times as many wet votes as dry, according to the final listing. Votes were made by telegram, which, at an average cost of 75 cents each, would make padding rather expensive. Of the 46,660 people who voted, 34,185 were "wet" and 12,483 were "dry." Massachusetts stood 119 dry and 40 wet. West Virginia was the only dry State, with 4 wet and 56 dry. From the town of Ricketts, Ia., with a population of 175, 35 filed votes. Nearly $35,000 was spent by the voters for telegrams.

L TYPE AERIALS ARE DIRECTIONAL

Reception with an inverted "L" type of antenna will be found a bit better from directions in a line with the antenna. If the antenna runs east and west, better reception will be found from stations to the east and west than from stations north and south.

The best reception will be had from stations in the direction in which the lead-in end of the antenna is pointed If the antenna runs east and west and the lead-in is at the west end, the reception will be better from stations to the west than to the east.

TRY THIS TIP ON YOUR PHONES

After using a pair of receivers for several months, it often happens that one receiver will be a little louder than the other. This may be due to one earpiece losing magnetism. In most cases, simply tightening the cap on the receiver will help a great deal. If this does not help, unscrew the cap and turn the diaphragm over on the other side and replace the earcap.

Radio receiving conditions tonight should be good on stations in all parts of the country except the extreme Southwest, where there is an area of low barometric pressure.

Radio Queries

Will the — tube, type 201A be as efficient as the R. C. A. type in the Super? I. A. R.

Bootleg tubes—like other kinds of bootleg products—vary greatly in quality, and we do not advise their use in the Super if the Westinghouse or General Electric can be obtained

In the three-variometer circuit which is correct for the variable condenser, a .00025 or a .0005 mfd? Are the B batteries, using two 45-volt batteries in series, the proper connection? J. N. B

A .00025 mfd. is correct. Also 90-volts is correct for this

Am building a Super I have two double circuit jacks as shown below but on Page [illegible] of your booklet there appear to be only three leads from the jacks. Also should I drill holes for the wires to pass through the sub panel?

The two outside leaves are connected respectively to the plate of the tube and the B battery. The inner two are connected to the two terminals of the primary of the transformer. In the case of some sockets, extra long binding post screws may be used, and the leads taken from these below the panel. Otherwise the sub-panel should be drilled for the wires

Crowley, Joliet, Ill., 227 meters, 500 watts, and broadcasts Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday from 8:30 to 12.00 4.—These are amateur licenses: 9AM is J. D. Cole, Jr., No. 1340 Estes Ave., Chicago, 9PM is William H Pensat 5018 Cabanne Ave St Louis 9BM is listed as unassigned Experimental licenses usually have an X following the number

Can some listener tell me through the American what station was broadcasting [illegible] on the S[illegible] last Thursday evening at 11 p. m.? W. W.

Will three 1½ volt dry cells connected in parallel injure or shorten the life of a WD-11 tube? Is more voltage or amperage obtained when connected thus? H. S. T

Three cells [illegible] parallel will last more than three times as long as a single cell, will give steadier results, and will not shorten the life of a WD11 provided a rheostat is used

The Nursery Rhyme Town [illegible] Banbury

WHAT proud father has not crossed his legs and taken his youngster for a gallop upon his foot, chanting [illegible] nursery rhyme wh[illegible]

"Ride a cock horse [illegible] Cross."

These English nursery [illegible] are never as nonsens[illegible] sound to Americans, for they are replete with British [illegible] and geographical refer[illegible] Cross of Banbury wa[illegible] number erected by one of [illegible] English kings to mark [illegible] stops of the funeral [illegible] his dead queen across [illegible] her way to her final [illegible] in the Abbey.

Banbury Cross w[illegible] during the Purit[illegible] against anything [illegible] the Roman Catho[illegible] town itself is a very [illegible] English small town, [illegible] quaint old houses dating from the sixteenth century. The two or three inns are utterly unchanged from the days of [illegible] and gentlemen of [illegible] way. Tourists [illegible] Banbury, and [illegible] on the other side of [illegible]

The country surrounding Banbury is very beautiful. There are half a dozen famous castles [illegible] in a short ride of the city, an[illegible] the beautiful Englis[illegible] houses of the nobility [illegible] may be seen in [illegible] better advantage than [illegible] where else.

Banbury held [illegible] American innovation [illegible] than most English towns [illegible] today most of the inha[illegible] their milk bottles d[illegible] to keep them fresh an[illegible] efforts of the ice [illegible] put that modern im[illegible] to their houses. HEROINES OF HISTORY

By Mark Sullivan

The Foolish Queen Who Became a Wanderer.

THE so-called "new woman" who possesses in such marked degree the courage of her convictions that she is willing to brave [illegible] criticism for the sake of putting he[illegible] beliefs into effect is fondly regarded as a product of the [illegible] day.

But she is not.

Ever so long ago—back in the early sixteen hundreds—a girl baby was born into the royal house of Sweden who was destined to become more aggressively modern th[illegible] any woman of this country [illegible] dared to be.

For not only did she follow her [illegible] so far as to resign [illegible] and power, but she even [illegible] to make herself ri[illegible] just to prove a strange [illegible] of disposition.

Christiana of Sweden was the only surviving child of Gustavus Adolphus. Because of the solid and masculine education she received she began to be while still a girl specially impatient of the etiquette of court.

And since she was placed on the throne when but seven years old, she had plenty of opportunity to grow up self-willed, arrogant and [illegible]

To offset these qualities, however, she possessed the charms of [illegible] frankness and generosity, winning the confidence and love of her people.

Since [illegible] would have no prime minister, she [illegible] administered most of the business of State. And [illegible] she encouraged the arts in her country by patronizing artists and literary men, though she showed [illegible] to members of her own sex.

Many royal suitors tried for her [illegible] it appeared to be [illegible] she might care for the interests of her [illegible] better with no consort. And indeed she helped to accomplish such important events as the Peace of Westphalia which confirmed Sweden in the possession of many important countries.

Christiana finally came to believe that Charles Gustavus would prove a better ruler than herself, and abdicated in his favor. Then she immediately offset this noble gesture by the ridiculous one of assuming male attire.

After a visit to Brussels where she abjured the Lutheran faith and joined the Roman Catholic Church, Christiana went to Rome where she received splendid hospitality from the Pope. She then visited at the court of Louis XIV and was received with royal honors.

But her masculine attire and her violation of the proprieties disgusted the people. Feeling ran so high after a member of her suite had been murdered by her order that she was compelled to leave the country.

First she returned to Rome, where she quarreled with the Pope. Finally she fell into such disrepute that the people of Sweden treated her coldly when she returned to her own land.

Eventually she exiled herself, dying in Italy at the age of sixty three.

TELL THESE AT DINNER

The scene is laid at a large railroad station. The time is 8:35 in the morning. An old lady enters [illegible] the Boston train, due out at [illegible] exits right.

Enter a porter.

Old Lady (to porter)—Has the 8:30 to Boston gone, my good man?

Porter—Yes, mum, your train's gone.

Old Lady — Why do you say "your train" when you know as well as I do that it belongs to the railroad company?

Porter—Well, if it comes to that, why do you say "my good man," when you know as well as I do that I belongs to my old woman?

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

JOHN NIZNIK,
7 Salisbury [illegible] New Bedford, Mass.

SPRING SPORT

Trying to meet the rent, get coal for the furnace, buy Spring suits and hats for the ladies and pay an installment of the income tax with the money in the March pay envelope.

Escorting the wife through a young blizzard to the nearest theatre so that she can enjoy a movie that [illegible] you have already seen.

Building a fire under the goldfish globe to keep the poor fish from freezing to death.

A Simple Explanation

The increasing number of "wild bee hunters in New England has caused the inquiry. What makes a bee hunter wild?" The answer is very simple—when he accidentally steps on a hive.

Studebaker Sells at Fresh Low for Current Year in Mixed Stock Market

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

When shown recently in different states how plans were being made to increase enormously various agricultural products, I sometimes asked, "Who are going to consume all this proposed increase?" Then I usually discussed the importance of wise industrial development locally in order to balance matters.

Many advocate the throwing of our immigration doors wide open so as to attract more consumers for our surplus wheat, our surplus meat and pork, and other domestic products. But while much can be said justly in favor of the open immigration door as being the historic American policy, there is another side to that big question.

* * *

Some illuminating facts are given by James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, in a letter discussing that problem. He questions whether admission of "a million or two more workers would enable us to utilize all of the so-called surplus plant equipment, developed during the war," and whether "the addition of that many workers would automatically solve the problem of the wheat farmer."

* * *

Some industries, declares Secretary Davis, were so over-developed during the war that nothing can be done to warrant their full-time operation in peacetime production, since such production could not possibly be marketed either at home, or, at present, abroad.

The bituminous coal industry is both over-developed and overmanned. They are capable of producing over a billion tons of coal a year, which is about twice what we consume.

"It would be better for the industry and better for the mine workers," declares Mr. Davis, "if 250,000 of the coal mine workers could be distributed among other industries, thus giving the remaining 400,000 work for 308 days in the year."

* * *

We can produce in seven months all the iron and steel needed for a year, and if all plants were made as efficient as our best plants, our total iron and steel requirements could be produced with one-third the men now employed, Mr. Davis emphasizes.

* * *

Think of this:

"In the best furnaces it costs one hundred and twelve minutes of one man's time to produce a ton of pig iron, and yet we have furnaces which require eleven hours of one man's time to get the same result. Why not solve the problem of any alleged labor shortage by making over the other pig iron plants so that they will not require five or six times the number of men necessary?

* * *

"In the window glass industry the hand blowing factories in 17 weeks out of the year can produce all the window glass that can be sold; but if the machine window glass plants were to decide to operate at full capacity 80 per cent. of the time, there would be no hand-blown window glass factories.

"In boots and shoes we have a capacity of 758,000,000 pairs, to produce a salable product of 325,000,000. If all shoe factories would do what Endicott Johnson is doing and get out twelve pairs of shoes per worker per day, 25 per cent. of the men now employed in the industry could produce all the footwear we need.

* * *

"In the distribution of food and food products there is one wholesaler to four manufacturers, one manufacturer to each 55 retailers, and one retailer to each 70 families, or 315 persons.

* * *

"In Chicago we have a brick-making machine which produces 49,000 bricks per hour and is attended by one man. If the industry was equipped with such machines, 5,000 men would be able to do the work now done by the 23,000 in the industry, provided, of course, that equally efficient machinery could be applied to the handling of the material."

WILLYS PFD. IS OFF OVER 3 POINTS

Studebaker was sold at a fresh low for the current year in a mixed New York stock market that displayed a heavy tone most of the day. Willys-Overland preferred was another weak motor, off more than 3 points to a new low for the current year.

New year's lows were set by Cluett-Peabody, Crucible and Mathieson.

Substantial losses were established in a number of instances, Fisher Body losing 5 and Consolidated Cigar, Vanadium Steel, Cosden preferred, Otis Steel preferred, International Cement and Burns Brothers, 1 to 1½ before the market rallied briefly under the impetus of short covering and heavy buying of railroad shares.

Continuation of easy money rates stimulated activity in today's bond market, which displayed an improved tone, despite the cloud cast by unfavorable developments at Washington.

Trading was featured by heavy buying of the Interborough issues, which advanced 1 to 1½ points. Demand for the Kelly-Springfield 8s developed, as the price dropped to what traders considered a bargain level, and the bonds rebounded 2½ points.

Foreign government issues, aided by the rise in the franc to above 5 cents, displayed new strength.

Heaviness of some of the copper liens followed reports of price shading. Goodyear 5s of 1931 reacted to unfavorable trade conditions, yielded more than 2 points.

Dubilier Takes Fresh Slump in Home Market

Losses of a point or more were numerous, including Fisk first preferred, Mexican Investment, Punta Alegre Sugar and Warren Bros. United Fruit was up a point.

United Shoe was off ¾, at 35, selling ex-dividend and at a low on the move.

AMERICAN WHOLESALE.

To W. W.—American Wholesale Corporation is a Baltimore mail order house, which in 1923, did about $32,-00,000 of business. The company handles a general line of merchandise, including clothing, linens, hardware, furniture, rugs and jewelry.

Although the present corporation was formed in 1919, the business has been in existence since 1881, when it was founded by Jacob Epstein, now president of the company. Capitalization consists of $7,-71,100 seven per cent. cumulative preferred, and 95,904 shares of no par value common. The preferred stock is redeemable at 110, and is entitled to that amount in event of dissolution of the company. It is being retired through the operation of a 3 per cent. annual sinking fund, created out of net profits. The book value of the common stock, according to the latest published balance sheet, is around $60 a share, after allowing $110 a share for the preferred.

Net income in 1923 was the largest in the history of the company, with the exception of 1919, amounting to $1,866,942, equivalent to $24.86 on the preferred, or $13.98 on the common, after allowing for preferred dividends. Profits last year were about double those of 1922, which amounted to $934,486. Per share earnings for the past five years have averaged $16.73 a share on the preferred—more than twice the dividend requirements—or $9.55 on the common after allowing for preferred dividends.

Hardware Age, in its weekly market summary, will say tomorrow: "Greater price stability was apparent in the hardware market during the past week. Few price changes of major importance were announced. Jobbers' sales are consistently strong, and retailers in most parts of the country, although not doing any large seasonal business as yet, report satisfactory sales.

"Some apprehension is felt by jobbers concerning possible shortages of Spring goods, particularly in the tool and builders' hardware lines."

MILLER PIANO GAVE MUSIC 61 YEARS

Old Instrument Is Secured by Firm From Mrs. J. H. McGlone for New Baby Grand

Sixty-one years of melody have been tapped out on the keys of a piano for which the Henry F. Miller & Sons Co., of No. 395 Boylston street, have "swapped" one of their newest and most modern $1,150 baby grands.

The old piano, sold by Henry F. Miller on May 18, 1863, to W. D. Plaisted, a Cambridge retailer, and then to Professor Greenough of Harvard, is the oldest one of its products still in active use that the Miller concern has been able to locate.

For nearly forty years it had been in the possession of the McGlone family of Somerville, now represented by Mrs. Joseph H. McGlone of No. 15 Cooney street, Somerville. It was purchased, after its first twenty-two years of service, from Professor Greenough.

The "swap" for a new baby grand was made with Mrs. McGlone as the result of an advertisement in the Boston newspapers, offering the new piano for the oldest Miller piano in use.

Hundreds of old pianos were inspected by Miller agents in homes throughout New England, and it was found that 1,500 Miller pianos, thought by their owners to be old enough to win the award, are now in everyday use.

CALLS RAILROAD LABOR BOARD A FAILURE

President Robertson of Brotherhood Appears at Opening of Hearing on Its Abolition

Washington, March 18.—The Railroad Labor Board was declared to be a failure and unsatisfactory alike to the "public, the railroads and the employes" in a statement today by D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, before a sub-committee of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee at the opening of hearings of the Howell-Barkley bill proposing abolition of the board.

The bill, which is sponsored by railroad labor organizations, proposes settlement of railroad labor disputes by conference between self-chosen representatives of railroad managements and employes, with further recourse to mediation and arbitration.

Mr. Robertson, who also is chairman of a legislative sub-committee of the railroad labor organizations, declared the activities of the Railroad Labor Board had brought about an "era of industrial discord after thirty years of peace." Long relays in settlement of disputes have created dissatisfaction among employes, he said, and the "uselessness" of the board had been shown by the increasing number of violations by the railroads of its decisions."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. F. X. MAHONEY.
Boston Health Commissioner.

BETTER weather will soon be here and with it many dangers to the health of the baby and the adult.

Dr. Mahoney.

Great baby saving may occur if we will but use many of the natural advantages that properly safeguard the infant.

The grown-up who leaves home, whether for a short or a long period, must bear in mind that he has changed his environment and there may be many things in that locality that are not conducive to health. Before making such a move many things should be investigated.

For both baby and adult impure milk or polluted water are often the cause of illness and death.

When away from home you should have pure water and a milk supply similar in its purity to what you obtain at home. There is no benefit in the rest or recreation you secure if serious sickness creeps in as a result of improper sanitary conditions.

For the personal safety of everyone it is for his advantage to search well before choosing a recreation place. There are many danger spots, but to the credit of some of our neighboring States may it be said they are doing everything possible to improve surroundings.

During all the periods of the year we should care for ourselves by proper living, but the rising temperature brings with it a condition which often we do not try to adjust ourselves. There are a few things that each individual should do for his personal welfare and for his personal good. Avoid excesses, eat sparingly of meat, encourage breast feeding in infants. Do not worry, overwork or overeat.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

What are some of the causes of laryngitis? What are simple home remedies for it? I have an attack occasionally. M. A. L.

Chilling of the body and overuse of the voice are two of the important causes of laryngitis. Frequently it is part of a general catarrh, or due to the inhalation of dust or vapors. In severe cases, the patient should be confined to bed and the use of the voice should be avoided. A hot foot bath is sometimes good. Cold compresses applied externally afford great relief. Inhalation of steam impregnated with tincture of benzoin are useful. In severe cases it would be wise to call your family physician.

I had scarlet fever when I was a child. Would I be apt to contract it again as an adult? B. A. G.

One attack of scarlet fever usually protects against subsequent attacks. On rare instances second attacks occur after an interval of several years. Children under ten are most susceptible. Ninety per cent. of the fatal cases occur in children under ten years of age.

I have been told I have chronic gastritis. Please give me a diet.

This is a disease causing an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the stomach. It presents various symptoms according to degree of the inflammatory process and the presence or absence of complications. As a rule, solids cause more discomfort than liquids, but with suitable diet and proper treatment, the mild forms of this trouble are usually cured, at least in the clinical sense. The cause should be ascertained and removed as soon as possible. Regularity of meals and thorough mastication is essential. The patient should not overeat, and should avoid drinking large quantities of liquids at meals. Change of scene, freedom from worry and properly regulated exercise in the open air are recommended. A mixed diet of soft, pulpy food should be prescribed. It may include chicken, boiled fish, soft boiled or poached eggs, well cooked rice, junket or jelly. Fried foods, rich pastries and coarse vegetables should be avoided. Tea, coffee and cocoa should be used sparingly.

Sugar Boycott a Success

Company's Report Shows Force of Hearst Newspapers' Campaign

The annual report of the American Sugar Refining Company, just published, supplies the first comprehensive story of the astonishing success which attended the nation-wide sugar boycott organized by the Hearst papers last Spring.

The company's report carries an appendix "Chronology of Publicity and Events Affecting Sugar in 1923," which shows the day-by-day spread of the boycott.

On April 24 all Hearst morning and evening papers published a call to the housewives of the country to cut down their use of sugar. On the following day, April 25, the "Chronology" shows that refined sugar, at wholesale, sold for its highest price of the year, 10.25 cents, while consumers were paying eleven cents and twelve cents. Fifteen-cent and twenty-cent sugar was predicted before the year was over.

On this same April 25, Governors Baxter of Maine, Ritchie of Maryland and United States Senator Borah of Idaho, wired their sympathy with the Hearst campaign for lower sugar. The next day they were followed by Governors Silzer of New Jersey, Russell of Mississippi, McRae of Arkansas, Scrugham of Nevada, Parsons of Louisiana, Walton of Oklahoma and United States Senator La Follette of Wisconsin.

Within ten days fourteen Governors and ten United States Senators had aligned themselves with our campaign. Three Governors, two United States Senators and Mayor Hylan wired President Harding for support, and the President expressed his approval of the principle of the boycott. Mrs. Harding announced that she had put the principle into effect on the White House table.

Beginning on April 26 with the Maryland State Federation of Women's Clubs, representing a membership of fifteen thousand women, women's organizations all over the country mobilized to reduce the price of sugar. The New York Women's Sugar Committee came to have a million names on its list. Mayor Hylan's proclamation calling for reduced use of sugar, and his later call for a Sugarless Monday, was imitated in Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and most of the big cities of the country. The movement spread to Canada and was taken up by the British Housewives' Organization.

The effect on sugar consumption was instantaneous and startling. On May 6 the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, operating 7,600 stores all over the country, announced that, though its general business was above normal, its sales of sugar were 21 per cent. less than the year before.

As a result, prices began to fall. The quoted wholesale price of refined sugar fell from 10.25 cents per pound on April 25 to 10.15 cents on April 30, and 9.90 cents on May 3. The refiners made actual sales at lower prices, for on May 7 the chain stores were selling to the housewives at nine cents, while nowhere was more than ten cents charged.

As the effect of the boycott became more marked the wholesale price of sugar marched steadily down to nine cents on July 9, eight cents on August 1 and 7.50 cents on August 22, the low point of the year. Thereafter, the price gradually recovered, closing at 8.90 cents at the end of the year.

It is an extraordinary record of public service which these papers were able to perform. It is not possible to estimate how much this campaign saved consumers of the country in the price they paid for 1923 sugar. Assume that the saving was, on the average, only two cents per pound. We consume an average of one hundred pounds of sugar per year. A saving of two cents per pound means two dollars per person in a year, or $200,000,000 for the hundred million people of the country.

Best of all, the people have learned a lesson in co-operation. By self-help they defeated one of the biggest steals ever attempted. What they have done once they can do again.

Real and Sham Democracy

Harsh Words? Let's Not Deserve Them

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

Canada for many years has developed waterpower and sold the resulting electric energy to Canadians at the lowest possible price under government ownership. Now the government of New Brunswick will harness the power of the Grand Falls in the St. John's River, developing eighty thousand horsepower to serve the people again under government ownership.

Here we are agreed that government ownership can't succeed. Is it because we consider our public men less honest and able than Canada's public men?

A visiting Canadian the other day, pointing to the public ownership enterprise in Canada and the lack of them in the United States, said: "It's just the difference between a real democracy and a sham democracy." That's a little harsh, there is something in it for Americans to think about The Canadians beat us in many ways.

Wanted—800 Miracles

For 800 Sorrowing Ladies

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

All religions have their miracles and believe in them firmly, including the Mohammedan. Now, in Egypt, eight hundred poor, harassed, homeless women, abandoned by the Mohammedan Caliph when he fled to Switzerland with only two wives, are wondering whether a miracle will come to help them. Their faith is badly strained when the Caliph runs away.

The eight hundred unfortunate ladies might try Mohammed's famous miracle of the great battle in the Vale of Bedr. Sitting on a throne overlooking the battle and seeing his men yielding, Mohammed left his throne, mounted his horse and threw a handful of dust in the air toward his enemies, the Koreshites. Instantly the dust was changed into three thousand angelic warriors, on black and white steeds, that swept Mohammed's enemies to defeat.

The Caliph's abandoned ladies might try throwing dust into the air. Perhaps eight hundred handsome and obliging husbands would appear, although these are poor days for miracles of that kind.

LISTEN, WORLD! -:- By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHAT SORT OF REFLECTION DO YOU CAST?

THERE'S a new instrument called the Clavilux. It resembles an organ and is manipulated by keys. But from that manipulation proceeds something utterly unlike organ music, although perhaps as great in beauty as any tonal harmony. The Clavilux produces light forms rather than sound forms. As the performer touches the keys in a darkened room, rays of light fall upon a screen. Languid and wraith-like at first, they soon quicken and intensify. The hovering beam leaps into a blazing pillar of light; the faint, gray pool widens until its circles lash and resurge in crystal surf. Color is born, faintly at first, then in vivid chords that blend and mingle, separate, dissolve, to disappear at last in subtle mating of one torn flame. Then—blank.

A strange discovery, the Clavilux. And yet, perhaps, not altogether new or strange. Each human is a Clavilux, casting an image on the screen of life. We give so much more than words or deeds to those we meet. Unconsciously we give a certain image of the soul within us. And through that image we bless or harden everyone we touch.

You know how it is, Pal. You've noticed it yourself, haven't you, even if you may never have put it into these words? We FEEL people, don't we, even before they open their mouths? Take Mrs. Hattie Plim, for instance. There's a human Clavilux that registers in dreamy, drabby gobs. Before Hattie speaks you get her color scheme. Never a flash of dancing green humor, or orange hope, or scarlet spunk. Dirty, sickly gray—one hour with her is enough to turn the sunniest soul into a dill pickle.

Or there's Millie Ransom. Forty, fat and fluttering is Mildred, with her thought cylinders all gummed up with romance. Milly's funny to write about, but she's mighty cloying to live with. She just naturally smears herself all over the scenery in sloppy pink and baby blue waves of sentiment. Ugh! how you long to meet a big, bracing personality, even if it did produce discords.

That's what you meet when Helen comes along. Black and white and scarlet is Helen; not very restful at times, but invigorating as a great wind. When she has gone you find that she has given you something—something that's good for your soul and your spine.

You've noticed such things, too, among your friends, haven't you, Pal? But have you ever stopped to think what sort of a Clavilux you are yourself? What image do you throw on the screen of life? Are you a limp, gray ghost—a peevish flicker—a jumble of cheap colors without meaning, like beads that lack a central string—a smear of sickly sentiment? Or are you vivid and definite, full of motion, with brave sweeps of green and gold and scarlet in your personality? Sit in a darkened room and look at yourself on the screen. Are you satisfied with your color scheme?

Sisters Need Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

We have often heard of your help to people who are unfortunate and without employment. We are two sisters who have been out of work for nearly a month and have been able barely to scrape along. My sister is nineteen and I am seventeen. We are in need of clothes badly. We have neither decent clothes to wear on the street nor to work in. Mother is working to support a large family, and it is very hard.

BEATRICE.

Things for New Baby

Editor Helping Hand:

Kindly send me an address of somebody who could use some baby clothes for a new baby. I have also a few rompers that would fit a year-old child. They are not new, but would do for somebody in need. I should like them to go to one family.

MRS. C. A. J.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. C. A. A., who has a family of seven and is expecting a new arrival.

Has More to Send

Editor Helping Hand:

I have quite a few things I will send if you will give me an address. The clothes are not new, but too good to throw away. They are a man's overcoat—four or five dresses and bloomers for a girl about four or five years old. Two or three suits for a boy two or three. Sweater size 3. I have more I can send later, after I get them ready.

A. L.

Thank you. Your gift will clothe the last member of Mrs. C. A.'s large family.

Clothes for Family

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a man's overcoat, a girl's Winter coat, size 15; some boys' coats and some woolen scarfs and caps. Also white shoes, size 4. All these things I think would help some family where there are children. Kindly send me an address, and I will forward them.

MRS. J. A. McG.

Thank you. We have sent you the address of H. M., a little fifteen-year-old girl who is asking for her father and brothers.

Raincoat for Girl

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a raincoat in good condition for a girl twelve or thirteen.

B. M.

Thank you. We have sent you the address of F. M., a girl that age, who will be glad to have a raincoat.

Living On City Aid

Editor Helping Hand:

My husband hasn't done any work for seven months. I am living on ten dollars a week the city gives us, and there are seven to feed from that. I wonder if any of the kind readers have clothes to fit a boy of 8 as he has no clothes to go to school. The girls are 12, 11, 10 and 5. I would also be grateful if anyone had something for me size 42.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON THE RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA

By DR. FRANK CRANE

ONE of the most important events of recent times is the recognition of the Soviet government of Russia by Great Britain.

The principal advantage of "recognizing" a country is that it makes it possible for merchants to do business with that country. The sending and receiving of Ambassadors, the exchange of courtesies and the political flourishes do not amount to much.

Great Britain recognized Russia because she wanted Russia's trade.

There has been considerable criticism of the unbending policy of aloofness maintained by Secretary Hughes toward the Soviet government.

It has been held that the least the United States can do is to be helpful and friendly and that no good can come of being wholly antagonistic.

It is not for us to judge Russia. That is the province of Time and Destiny.

In the eyes of history America, or rather the English-speaking people, on the one hand, and Russia on the other, are competitors.

We stand for a civilization based upon the property rights of individuals; they stand for a system where the property belongs to the State.

We stand for the steady growth of human society, the present as developed from the past and the future to be an outgrowth of the present; they stand for the remaking of human society by theory and logic.

We think we are right. Just as positively they think they are right.

In such a condition a sensible view to take is that there should be a fair field and no favor. Let them work out their experiment. If Socialism or Sovietism is better for the human race let them prove it. If Democracy is better it is up to us to prove it.

There is no use arguing nor exploding in virtuous indignation nor slapping our chests, nor engaging in theatrics. That is not the way history settles things. There is but one way to find out the truth and that is to use it and see whether it will work.

Russia enters the field of nations as the Big Boy and a boy somewhat cocky and obstreperous. As Gene Buck would say, "Give the kid a chance!"

For perhaps we are not so almighty right after all. Maybe the best government, the kind of the twenty-first century, is going to be a mixture of Democracy with considerable Sovietism. And maybe not.

But in any event let us leave the ways open for experiment. "By their fruits, ye shall know them."

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON THE TELESCOPE

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

"An Astronomer" at Kirkwood, Mo., asks: "How can one tell the power of a telescope? What must be the power to see the different planets? When will the next occultation of Venus occur?"

THE "power" of a telescope usually means the degree of magnification of the object looked at that the instrument produces. This power depends upon the ratio between the focal length of the object-glass and the focal length of the eye-piece. The eye-piece sometimes consists of a single small lens, but more frequently of two small lenses mounted together at a short distance apart, and in this case the focal length of the two lenses acting together must be ascertained for comparison with the focal length of the object-glass of the telescope.

When you know the focal length of the object-glass and also that of the eye-piece, divide the former by the latter, and the quotient will be the magnifying power, reckoned in diameters.

Suppose, for instance, that the focal length of the object-glass—i. e., the distance from the centre of the object-glass to the place where it brings the rays of light together and makes a distinct image of the object toward which it is directed—is 60 inches, while the focal length of the eye-piece is one-half inch; then the magnifying power will be 120 diameters.

If you are unable to make satisfactory measures of the focal lenghts of the lenses, you can ascertain the magnifying power by pointing the telescope at a brick wall, or a board-sided house at a considerable distance away; then look through the telescope with one eye, while with the other eye you look directly at the wall, or the house, outside the telescope. Count how many rows of brick, or boards, seen with the naked eye, correspond in width with one row seen in the telescope, and that will be the magnifying power.

You can get very impressive views of the mountains and plains on the moon with magnifying powers of from 50 to 100 diameters. The same powers will serve for Venus, although, of course, you will not be able to see any details on the disk of Venus, very few are to be seen with the most powerful telescopes. Powers of 100 to 200 will show you the belts and spots on Jupiter, as well as the four principal satellites of that planet, and their round black shadows crossing Jupiter's bright-colored disk when they pass between it and the sun. Saturn's ring system can be seen with a power of 50, but to view it well, especially the separation of the rings and the faint markings of the planet, use from 100 to 200.

When Mars is near next August, you can see his principal features well with the same powers used for Jupiter or Saturn. You will have no difficulty in seeing the south "polar snow" of Mars, like a gleaming white dot, or button, but it will require more attention to observe well the slightly ruddy and dusky markings on the planet's surface. Of course, the so-called "canals" are beyond the reach of an amateur's telescope, unless he has a large glass, and the eyes of a Schiaparelli, or a Lowell.

It is a good rule in practice not to press the magnifying power beyond fifty diameters to the inch of aperture, i. e., the breadth, of the object glass. Thus, if the aperture is four inches, the highest power you can effectively use generally does not exceed 200. Under the very finest conditions of the atmosphere, and with an object-glass of exceptional excellence, a skilled observer may occasionally employ a power of from 75 to 100 per inch of aperture.

The next transit of Venus across the sun's face will occur one June 8, in the year 2004. As human life is said to be lengthening, many persons born this year may see that transit when they are eighty years old.
